Sonic Toon

There are a few reasons to put down your control pad: Like eating, bathing, sleeping and maybe a few others. Now there's another legitimate reason to turn off your Genesis (or at least put it on pause for half an hour) — the adventures of Sonic The Hedgehog in his own cartoon show. ABC is planning a half-hour special this summer, Sonic The Hedgehog — Heads or Tails, created by Len Jansen, the creative force behind such animated hits as The Smurfs, Batman, Tarzan, and The Real Ghostbusters. Join Sonic and Tails as they try to save the planet from Robotnik and his evil sidekicks Cluck (a robot chicken) and Snively (Robotnik's spineless attaché).

Then in the fall, Sonic and Tails join forces again, this time in a syndicated cartoon series of 65 episodes. In this series, Sonic has to keep on his toes to stay ahead of Robotnik's S.S.S.S.S. Squad (which stands for Super Sonic Search and Smash Squad). The syndicated series is expected to air Monday through Friday. We can't wait.

Sega Nice Guys

Sega of America has been doing its part to make the world a little better. So far, the Sega Youth Education and Health Foundation has donated almost $3,000,000 to various health and education related charitable organizations. Sega has lightened the loads of A Better Chance, the George Lucas Educational Foundation, National Foundation for the Improvement of Education, Teach for America, CSU Dominguez Hills, Council for Basic Education, Impact II, Puerto Learning Center, Mathematics Engineering Science Achievement, Chappaquod School, Computer Learning Foundation, California Academic Decathlon, Girl Scouts, Nello Thomas Institute of Learning, Pediatric Aids Foundation, and much more. Now you can become part of this charitable movement, and win valuable prizes while you're at it. Sega Visions is sponsoring a contest to check it out with a new logo for the Foundation. Check it out on page 94.

Edutainment

For some gamers, the thought of combining entertainment and education is like putting ice cubes in hot water — you end up with something that's too warm to drink, and too cool to bathe in.

But this doesn't have to be the case. Look at the huge success of titles like Where in the World is Carmen Sandiego? and Where in Time is Carmen Sandiego? Like it or not, these games actually teach you geography and history, while showing you a pretty good time. The same goes for Software Toolworks' Miracle Piano Teaching Method, which uses video game techniques to teach you how to tickle the ivories. We think this is just the beginning. Video games and video game consoles are so popular now that they could be used for homework assignments. All we need is for some game designer to come up with some creative edutainment concepts. How about it guys? And we'd like to hear from readers too. How would you feel about learning math on your Genesis?

Disney News

Until recently, when the rides shut down for the night and all the guests went home, Mickey and his gang would head to a secret corner of Disneyland. Now their little village has become the newest "land" since 1972, and is open to the public. The cartoon world of Toon Town is a little like stepping into an animation. There are no right angles, the manhole covers talk, there's a taxi cab jutting out of a building, and a lot more loony stuff. It's right out of Roger Rabbit. This place is a must see.

Old Toys = $$$

Do you remember playing your Star Wars figures? Or leezing them? Maybe you took them apart? Or sat them on top of a fire cracker and lit it? Yeah, we did all those things too. Too bad we didn't know that one day some of these (unboxed) figures would be worth up to $200. Collecting toy figures has become a legitimate hobby, just like stamp and baseball card collecting. And like our dads who took themselves for putting a Willie Mays in their bike spokes, we are doing the same for letting Luke Skywalker on the roof of the shed. Our advice to you is to check out a toy collectors price guide (you can find those at any comic book store) and then rummage through your old toy box and hope that Han Solo hasn't been decapitated.

of things when it comes to secret passwords. They recently sent us the following Level Select passwords for Sonic 2. Follow these instructions, and you should be able to access any level in the game.

First go to the Sound Test mode (from the Options screen), and select the following sounds: 19, 65, 09, 17. Press B after selecting each sound. (Use the D-Pad and Button A for selecting the sounds).

Now press Start, and when you get to the title screen, hold Button A and press Start. The level select screen should appear.

Cyberspace

Virtual Reality is now in better arcades everywhere. Sega Enterprises' Virtua Racing games are two-player arcade machines that let you participate in a road race against another player. Each driver sees the road from his own point of view. Not only do you see the road, but you can feel it too, as you experience the glories of 120 mph corners and the bumping of your wheels against your opponent's. Current models allow four machines to be interlinked, allowing eight players to race at once. Future models will accommodate 10 or more drivers, with large screen monitors showing the entire race for the benefit of the spectators. Sega Enterprises usually develops and distributes

Sega arcade machines, but we hear that they're about to get into something a little different. Stay tuned for more info...

Yo

HOT ENVELOPE ART!

Gregory Weber
Brook, NY

Yo Sega!

I read in the November/December issue of Sega Visions that you can't play Sega CD games on audio CD players. What about CD Rom drives for computers?

C.L., Mountlake Terrace, WA

Sega CD games are specially designed to play on Sega CD units, and will not work on any other hardware. However, Sega CD units will play other kinds of software, such as audio CDs and CD-G disks, which is not the case with most CD-ROM drives for computers.

Yo Sega!

I am a big Sonic the Hedgehog fan. I have all the posters, I subscribed to the comic book, and I have all the video games. In your August/September issue, I read that Sonic will be getting his own cartoon show. When will this show premier? What network will it be on?

J.A., Glendale, TX

ABC is planning a half-hour special Sonic cartoon to air sometime this summer. They will be making an announcement in April. Sonic will also go into syndication nationwide later this year (65 episodes!). Check your local listings for details.

Yo Sega!

I own a Sega Genesis and I love all of your sports games. My question is about digitized games. What are they and what makes them better than regular games? How do you "digitize" them?

N.G., Gardena, CA

Digitizing is a method of creating graphics from real-life video clips, resulting in ultra-realistic animation. Digitized graphics are most appropriate for action and sports games, where realistic movement is important. Here's how it works:

First, a professional actor's (or athlete's) movements are videotaped in front of a neutral background. For example, for a football game, an athlete might be taped tackling, running, or throwing a ball. When all the movements that will be used in the game have been recorded, the next job is to convert them into a format that the computer can recognize. This is the actual digitizing process, where each frame of the videotape is converted into a graphics file format that can be manipulated on the computer.

Next comes the process of compressing the data, by removing unwanted colors or detail, shrinking the figures down to a more manageable size, and eliminating unnecessary frames. The result is a series of frames (known in the biz as an "anim") that can be triggered by a button-press or other input. Anim's can be placed in front of different backgrounds to add variety to a game.

Yo Sega!

I think you guys have the most excellent magazine ever. I've had my Genesis Game System for two years now and I think the games are awesome. But I'd like to know more about game designers, how do they come up with those special ideas for games and how do they make them a reality?

K.T. Jr., Jefferson, TX

Making a video game these days is a lot like making a movie. First, the designer (or script writer) decides on the kind of game — action/adventure, RPG, shooter, or driving/flying. Next he decides on a concept. For example, for an action/adventure game, he may decide on a Wild West concept (like Konami's Sunset Riders), or a futuristic science fiction concept (like US Gold's Flashback). After that, the designer has to tackle

Jesse Anderson

all the details, deciding on the characters, bosses, power-ups, and all the other elements that make up the game. When the script is finished, the programmers start gathering all the pieces and putting them together: the graphic elements from the artists, the music from the musicians, and the logic that holds it all together.

Yo Sega!

I'm the Mom of a Sega Addict. When I got the poster you sent with the last issue, I copied Sonic and Tails—in cross stitch. I can't finish it yet, though—I'll have to wait until Mike starts playing the game so that I can come up with a good background.

D.P., Rowlett, GA

Great! We can't wait to see the finished product. Please send us a picture of it and we'll print it for all our readers.

P.S. We hope you didn't have to wait too long for Mike to start playing.

Yo Sega!

I have always wondered how controllers like the Menacer work. I know the systems have a receiving thing on the base, but without a sensor on the television how does it pick up the rays?

C.M., Eden Prairie, MN

The Menacer system consists of a number of parts, one of which is a sensor that sits on top of your TV or monitor. The infra-red sensor, which plugs into the Genesis control port, calculates the Menacer's position in space and relays that information to the Genesis. This way, the Genesis knows exactly where the Menacer is pointing at any given moment.

Yo Sega!

My Dad and I are having a disagreement. He thinks that if the Genesis is left on a TV and played often it will damage the screen. Is this true with Genesis or any other game system?

P.S., Camel, IN

It depends. If you leave the same image on a television screen for long periods of time (like a test pattern, for example), you may get what is known as screen burn-in, causing a faint version of the image to appear in the background. The same thing can happen to a computer screen displaying the same still image for a long time (usually a week or more).

Screen burn-in only becomes a problem with video games if you leave a game on Pause for days or weeks at a time. Playing a game normally should not affect your television set any more than watching a movie marathon. Anyway, most of us like to play video games, not spend weeks staring at the Pause screen.

Yo Sega!

My Dad gave me and my brothers your Sega system for Christmas. I learn a lot from those games and enjoy teaching and having fun with my brothers. My friends and I also play other Sega games, and it keeps me off the streets knowing that I have something interesting to do at home.

Thanks for making those games and for making them fun. I also make new friends when I go out and I start talking about my system.

T.L. (age 10), Brooklyn, NY

Thanks for writing. You tell your Dad he did the right thing getting you a Sega system for Christmas.

GENESIS

STREET FIGHTER

Champion Edition

History has been made. Sega and Capcom have teamed up to bring the hottest arcade fightin' machine of all time to your Genesis. Street Fighter II Champion Edition. Its official. After months of ultra-secret negotiations, Capcom has joined Sega as the newest Third Party Licensee. With a heavy rep for creating way-cool arcade and home games, Capcom has been making arcade machines since 1942 and home-system games since 1986.

Their all-time smash hit Street Fighter II hit the arcades in 1991 and quickly took over. Game industry insiders have called Street Fighter II the "Pac-Man of the 90s" because of its enormous success. The Champion Edition followed right after, with all the special features that have made it the ultimate king of fighting games. Street Fighter II Champion Edition has created waves in the gaming world. Big-time tournaments. Tons of media coverage. And millions of gamers have earned their callouses banging away at the buttons, learning the game's hundreds of combinations. It was only a matter of time before the hottest fighting game came to the hottest game system.

Street Fighter II Champion Edition on Genesis has the original arcade graphics and sound. All the character voices. Original music. And totally new features you won't find on any other version of the game. Fight in the World Warriors tournament or in Character vs

Sega Systems • April/May 1993

Character mode. Choose alternate clothing colors for your fighter. Play as any fighter, including the boss characters! All eight original characters have new moves, and the game speed has been increased to give you faster, total control. The result is...the next level of Street Fighter challenge and fun. Only on your Genesis.

A New Angle on Control

Street Fighter II Champion Edition is playable with any Genesis-compatible control pad. With standard three-button control pads, you press Start to switch the three-button panel from Punch to Kick mode. But the new Sega Six Button Controller is the only pad that gives you split-second control over every move combination, without having to change the button configuration from Kick to Punch. Based on the design of the original Genesis control pad, the A, B, C and X, Y, Z Buttons are set up arcade-style, one atop the other, within easy reach of your thumb. This gives you the power to make the same awesome attack combinations that makes the arcade Champion Edition so cool.

With Sega's Six Button controller, three- and four-move combos roll out smoothly. You can Sega and Capcom have shaken hands and are coming out fighting...together!

execute your favorite moves in any mix of punches and kicks, in any power level, without fumbling. The bottom line is that you get the most out of your gaming. The six-button design is so perfect for this game...as well as new games to come...that Capcom is considering releasing a Genesis Power Stick.

The World Warriors Tournament

This is a game storyline destined to become a legend. The World Warriors tournament takes place in secret locations across the globe. Entrance is limited to the 12 best fighters in the world. They come from all cultures, with fighting styles as diverse as their origins. Mixed in with their desires to win is an undercurrent of international terrorism and espionage. The destinies of the fighters are woven together by a web of fate. At the center sits M. Bison, a ruthless dictator and drug smuggler who resides in a hidden fortress deep in the jungles of Thailand. Opposing him...among others...are Chun Li and Guile. May the best Street Fighter win!

Blanka

Blanka is the jewel of the Street Fighter circuit. Raised in the jungles of Brazil, a freak accident gave him a savage appearance and the ability to channel 1,000 volts of electricity through his skin. Like the other World Warriors, he would like to see M. Bison come to a fatal end.

Chun Li

A master of Kung Fu, Chun Li is wild and unpredictable in combat. She uses her muscular legs to advantage, crushing her opponents from a distance. Chun Li is the only woman in the World Warriors tournament. She is also one of the toughest fighters. She believes M. Bison had her father murdered and is out for revenge.

Faster Spin Attack

Change Back, then press Forward plus the Fierce button.

Electricity

Rapidly tap any punch button to light up Blanka.

New Combination

Jump toward your opponent and press Fierce. As you land, press Down and Forward, then any punch button to go into a Spin Attack.

Flipping Neck Breaker

Stand close to your opponent and press Forward plus Roundhouse. This move is difficult to block.

Chest Flip Kick

Leap toward your enemy, then press Forward to deliver the Chest Kick. After the blow is delivered, Chun Li will automatically flip backward out of danger.

New Combination

Jump toward your opponent with a Fierce punch. Follow with a Strong punch and finish immediately by rapidly tapping Roundhouse for a Lightning Kick.

Dhalsim

Dhalsim is a Yoga Master who joined the World Warriors to prove his perfection of mind, body and soul. He favors fire attacks and can control the nature of his physical existence, altering parts of his body for devastating combat effects!

E. Honda

Edmond Honda is Japan's top Sumo wrestler. He joined the tournament to prove that Sumo is the best martial art. Because of his large size, Honda likes attacks that crush the life out of his opponents. But he can also channel his energy into high-powered attacks such as the Hundred Hand Slap.

Faster Torpedo

Jump Up, then press Down and Pound. Dhalsim will "torpedo" his opponent with head or feet. Because this is the Champion Edition, he can make this move anywhere, anytime.

New Combination

Standing Fierce Punch

Press the Fierce Button when Dhalsim is standing to give him a long reach. He will punch in whichever direction he is facing.

Jump Up and press Down plus Roundhouse to deliver a Torpedo. While your opponent is down, stand Close and press Down plus Jab to try them with Yoga Fire.

Hundred Hand Slap

Rapidly tap any punch button to cut loose the Hundred Hand Slap.

New Combination

Faster Fierce Head Butt

Stand Close to your opponent and press Fierce for a Head Butt that'll knock 'em silly.

Jump Forward your existing and press Fierce. As you land, press Roundhouse to land two more hits.

Guile

This Special Forces hero has a reason to hate M. Bison. The evil smuggler killed Guile's best friend while on a mission in Thailand. Guile barely survived the encounter. He's back, stronger than ever, and has learned the secret to controlling sound waves. His Sonic Boom attack is legend. He will not rest until Bison has been paid back in full.

Ken

One of the original Street Fighters, Ken is a disciple of Shotokan Karate and considers himself the greatest fighter of all time. He is a friend and rival with Ryu, and shares the same attack skills. But because some called him a "Ryu clone," Ken has added some diversity to his fighting, as well as some reckless arrogance.

Sonic Knee

Press Toward your opponent and Forward Kick to deliver a Sonic Knee.

New Combination

Jump Towards your enemy with a Fierce punch, land another Fierce and finish off with Poundhouse for a Fierce Kick.

Faster Dragon Punch

Stand Close to your opponent and press Toward plus Fierce to execute a new, faster Dragon Punch.

Farther Hurricane Kick

The Champion Edition Hurricane Kick carries farther across the screen. Press Down, Down-Back, Back, and any Kick button to let this spin-kick fly.

New Combination

Jump Toward your enemy with a Fierce punch, followed by another Fierce punch as you land. Finish off the combo with Toward and Fierce for a Dragon Punch.

Guile Flip

Guile can now Flip out of danger... or into battle... by pressing Up and Back or Up and Toward your opponent.

Ryu

Like his former friend Ken, Ryu is a disciple of Shotohan Kenne. Though their skills are almost equally matched, Ryu has a fighting flair that makes many think he is the better warrior. Ryu prefers to train in seclusion, using the natural powers of firearms and hurricanes to increase the strength of his attacks. Only the worthiest of opponents meet him on the rooftop of his dojo.

Zangief

Zangief is a battle-scarred Russian who trained to be a fighter by battling grizzly bears in the snow-swept Siberian Mountains. Like El Honda, Zangief favors attacks that make the most of his massive physique. He joined the World Warriors tournament to prove the superiority of the Russians. He is one of the fastest fighters and desires to beat M. Bison out of the champion title.

Invincibility After Hurricane Kick

Press Down, Down-Back, Back and any kick button to throw a Hurricane Kick. Ryu will be invincible for a split-second following the attack. No moves will harm him.

Faster Fireball

Ryu's Champion Edition Fireballs are faster. Press Forward plus Fierce to let them fly.

New Combination

Start the attack by jumping forward your opponent with a Fierce punch. Follow with another Fierce punch. Finish your assault with Down, Down-Back, Back and any kick button for a Hurricane Kick.

Boston Crab

Move Close to your enemy, then press Forward plus Forward for this tricky throw.

Spinning Clothesline

This move is tricky to make. Press Forward and all three punch buttons at the same time for this creative, spinning attack.

New Combination

Jump toward your opponent and throw a Fierce punch. As you land, press Down plus Short. Finish the attack with Forwards and all three punch buttons for a Spinning Clothesline.

Balrog

The big guy is an American boxer who joined the world fighters after losing his title shot in a rigged fight. He retreated to a down 'n dirty Las Vegas gym and trained to fight... against five opponents at once! Balrog is a classic boxer who refuses to back. But his low punches are fast, strong and very effective. And his Turn Punch can take you...even when you think you might think you are safe.

Vega

A part-time Matador, Vega learned his speed and death-defying acrobatics dodging the more-sharp horns of raging Spanish bulls. He spends much of his time in the air, where he can put his long, knife-edged claws to work. Vega is a vain man and wears a mask to keep his pretty face from being damaged. But he is a strong fighter and has the courage of a bull.

Turn Punch

Struggle but effective. Charge Back, then Charge Towards your opponent with the Fierce Button.

New Combination

Dash Attack

Reels the attack by holding down all three punch or kick buttons. Then Charge Towards your enemy while releasing the buttons. Holding the buttons down for 50 seconds or more will take off half your opponent's life bar.

Jump Towards your enemy and hit Fierce. As you land, press Jab while standing, then execute a Jab Dash Attack.

Claw Roll

Charge Back, then press Towards and tap any punch button. This move makes two hits on enemies.

Off the Wall Suplex

Charge Down, then press either Up-Left or Up-Right plus any Kick, to climb the wall. Hold Towards your opponent and press Strong or Fierce to come off the wall in a Suplex.

New Combination

Stand Close to your opponent, press Down and Jab for a slow start. Then go directly into a Claw Roll...Charge Back, then Towards and any punch button...for three solid hits.

Sagat

Sagat wears a long scar across his chest, a battle scar from Ryu's deadly move, on Punish. He is the greatest kick boxer of the World Warriors, and has trained long and hard in the seclusion of Thailand's jungles.

Sagat developed the Tiger Uppercut to counter Ryu's deadly move, and can now throw high and low Tiger Fireballs. He has also perfected the Tiger Knee, a lethal move to smaller statured opponents.

M. Bison

This evil criminal is the reigning grandmaster of the World Warriors tournament. He runs the Shadoloo smuggling ring from deep inside Thailand. M. Bison has joined the tournament to crush his opponents and keep the nature of his smuggling ring a secret. He is directly opposed by Chun Li, whose father he murdered, and Guile, whom Bison once imprisoned and whose best friend he killed. Bison channels psychic energy from his hands - some say drawing on the powers of evil.

Tiger Knee

New Combination

Press Down, Down-Towards, Towards, Up-Towards and any kick button to hit by the Tiger Knee.

Jump Towards your enemy while pressing the Roundhouse Button. Execute a Short Kick as you land and Polish off with Down, Down-Towards, Towards, Up-Towards and any kick button for a Tiger Knee.

Flaming Torpedo

New Combination

Charge Back, then press Towards plus a punch button. The stronger the button, the faster the attack. This attack will inflict heavy damage, even if your opponent blocks.

Stand Close to your opponent. Press Down and Jolt twice for a Double Flaming Torpedo. Polish it by Charging Back for at least three seconds, then hitting Towards plus any kick button for a Scissor Knee.

Scissor Knee

Charge Back for at least three seconds, then hit Towards plus any kick button. You'll land two blows; one high and one low.

Tiger Uppercut

To make this awesome punch, press Towards, Down, Down-Towards and any punch button. The stronger the punch you use, the higher Sagat will jump into the air.

LA RUSSA
MANAGER OF THE YEAR!

FINALLY, BASEBALL THAT'S MORE THAN HIT AND RUN.

This is the way baseball's supposed to be played. The strategy. The thinking. The statistical percentages behind every pitch and swing of the bat.

That's what Tony La Russa Baseball™ is all about.

For baseball purists, La Russa's the only game in town. All twenty-six major league teams. Every single player from the '92 season, from Abbott to Zeile. Each rated in 9 different skill categories like bat power and arm strength based on stats from STATS™ Inc. Giving you the most accurate baseball simulator ever.

That's not all. You also get the 1992 Manager of the Year: Tony La Russa. His thinking, his strategies, his insights on how to win—it's all there in the game. So Tony can tell you what to pitch to Will Clark. When to go to the Eck. How to score when Cone's on the mound. If you should shift for dead pull hitters like Dave Justice.

As manager, you're the field general. Flash the steal sign. Warm up the bullpen. In this league, strategy counts.

With La Russa, you can step up to the plate for every pitch, you can call the shots as the manager, or you can watch an entire 162-game season.

Plus you get the ultimate fielder's choice. The choice of auto fielding. Or manual mode that uses a unique outfielder spotlight on any ball in play. Allowing you to chase down balls all the way to the warning track. Just like Rickey Henderson.

Cool SPOT

OVERVIEW

He's hip. He's red. He's definitely an Lincoln nut. And he's starring in a game that will pump up the carbonation in your Genesis. Cool SPOT by Virgin is one of the best Sega carts we've seen this year! It's got it all—eye-popping graphics, pumping music and edge-of-your-seat game play. Cool SPOT really quenches the thirst for fun and white-knuckle action.

The star of the game is SPOT, 7-UP's sunglassesed, bundle of effervescent high-energy. Most normal folks can't even see SPOT. He's the kind of guy who hangs around, making mischief when you are not looking. Does your dog ever bark when you're drinking 7-UP? Does your pencil switch sides on your desk whenever your back is turned? Now you know why. What makes this game special is that not only do you get to see SPOT, you get to be SPOT. What is life like being a red dot with an Lincoln lifestyle? Try Cool SPOT and find out!

The name of the game is exploration. SPOT, whose main goal in life is fun! fun! fun!—most bebop his way through 11 megahuge levels and six bonus rounds, finding cool bonuses, power-ups and saving his 7-UP. Spot assigns from the non-carbonated cages of Wicked Will—a diabolical collector of rare creatures. Each sound is timed. Firing your friends before time runs out will get you bonus points. If you don't make it, SPOT gets an attitude about timers.

SPOT's main defense is his ability to flick bursts of 7-UP. He's also really mobile and responds quickly to your control pad commands, a statement about the level of programming Virgin put into the game. Cool SPOT graphics are sharp, colorful and highly detailed.

Sound effects are on the money. You'll know when SPOT is happy—and when he isn't! And the music rocks with surf tunes to keep your fingers popping on the buttons. Cool SPOT is a welcome change from standard action and maze games. It's as refreshing as a glass of cold Lincoln on a hot summer day.

If you are going to buy three Genesis games this year, make sure Cool SPOT is one of them.

It's a Snap!

The idea behind Cool SPOT is simple. Here's what you gotta do: Free your buddies. Pick up the cool stuff. Avoid the bad stuff. And do it within a certain amount of time. It's not as easy as it sounds. Let's see how good you really are.

Where you are might be obvious to you, but SPOT likes to check out his map before he takes on a level.

SPOT is just a guy who wants to have fun. Life is his big adventure. Ever get the urge to do crazy stuff like this?

Start the car on the main road to find the biggest treasure chest in the game.

The SPOT icon in the upper left corner tells you what condition SPOT is in.

Frogs may not be horses, but split with awesome accuracy. Its best to take them out as fast as you can.

Sharp objects such as hooks and nails will de-carbonate SPOT. Stay clear.

Go! SPOT

Crabs hang out at the docks too. You can actually hear their claws before they show up on screen.

The hook is the weak point. But you can't set your friend free until you have collected enough cool bonuses. Use your round time to find the cage, picking up bonuses as you go.

Clear bobbies will either bounce you higher or swallow you, sending you to where you need to be.

Grab the string and balloons will give you a lift.

Take a quick look before you go racing up or down dock lines. Waves are easy to wipe out, but can cost you a life with only a few hits.

Find this cool glass of YoCoke to regain SPOT's strength.

Joiner SPOT and he gets bored fast. The yo-yo is his favorite toy.

Take too long to finish a round and SPOT takes it personally. Make you ever wanted to do this to your alarm clock?

Find this stopwatch to give you more time in the zone.

Shell Shock

A good jump off the T-UP bonus will get you into the sky, or go overland to the beach chair and climb the beach. Most of the cool bonuses are in the air, around the balloons. The majority of the T-UP glasses are on the beach, surrounded by crabs. To find the cage, just follow the balloons.

Garage! Garage! Warning! Warning! Robots block your way and take away this to destroy.

The trumpet sound at this flag means that you will continue from this point on if you get de-carbonated before the game is over.

Step into this trap and SPOT will be hung into a wall...as well as lose some of his strength meter.

The 7-UP loss will give SPOT another life to choose.

These white Red Barons drop bombs as they pass. D-button up and fire to clear the skies above your head.

Crabs are your biggest hazard at the beach levels. They take multiple hits to destroy. Hermit crabs sometimes leave crabs alive after you blast their shells. Nice hazard!

SPOT don't like spiders or snakes. These babies are black widows and can climb down from any part of the screen. Even worse, they travel in groups.

Do well in the rounds and you'll get a chance to do even better in the bonus rounds. Collect as many cool features as you can for valuable profits and prizes.

These mice may look really for best, but they want a last fight before they go. Hordes of clones are their weapons and they will hurt them at SPOT.

Radical Rails

The Radical RAILS will take you on a wild ride. It is easy to get lost here. The diagonal rails send you sliding faster than you can control. The tubes carry you to various heights within the level. You have a split second between rails and tubes where you can take control to pick up bonuses, etc. Notice that the cages are all in the upper right corner? Concentrate on moving in that direction as you collect your cool bonuses.

CS

SPOT

This wild level features a yacht for background graphics that scrolls continuously with your movements. We took it out to show you the actual structure of the level. Be extra careful around puddles of water on the dock. They hold fish that spit droplets with every apparition. While creels are a constant nuisance, sea arches and clams are usually placed where you would land if you jump in. Take an extra second in these areas and you'll make it to the SPOT cage...and the next level...in much better shape.

GENESIS

Gambit

X-MEN

OVERVIEW

They're Super Heroes. Willing to face incredible dangers to keep mankind safe. But they are anything but human. They are...Marvel Comics' X-Men. Sega has taken these Marvel Super Heroes and brought them to life in a high-powered action-packed game as wild as the comic book pages where they were born. X-Men impacts your Genesis with bold graphics, a wild soundtrack and top-rate game play.

The X-Men pits the Super Hero mutants against their arch-enemy Magneto. Rick uploaded a killer computer virus from his secured hideout into the X-Men's Danger Room—where the X-Men train to hone their superhuman skills. But now each training session has become a matter of life and death. There is no escape. No retreat. And no surrender. The only way to beat Magneto's threat is to survive all the training sessions and cure the Danger Room computer of Magneto's virus.

The result force consists of Gambit, Nightcrawler, Wolverine and Cyclops. You can begin the game as any one of these X-Men—with their own special powers, or play any two X-Men characters in a two-player game. During the course of play you can switch your hero for another of the four, or call on other X-Men to give you backup assistance with their superpowers.

The game features three skill levels and power-ups you can find in the course of play. Power-ups include Life meter, Maxed Power meter and replaceable Backup Assist icons. The X-Men is the perfect title for hardcore action gamers and anyone wishing to become a Super Hero.

Gambit's bio.

Gambit's basic attack.

Use Gambit's jumping slash to ground high-flying enemies.

With his spin slash attack, Gambit can handle multiple enemies.

Gambit can duck and swing to avoid most enemy fire, yet stay within striking range.

Gambit's ability to spin jump helps him get to out-of-reach platforms.

Gambit's energy-charged cards will home in on any foe within sight.

Sometimes...you have to crush your enemies where they live!!!

Wolverine

Wolverine's bio.

The spin slash taken care of surrounding foes and any enemy standing right above Wolverine.

Use the luring slash for a fast on-site attack.

As a last-ditch effort in a two-player game, you can revive X-Men and share health. Use it if your teammate's life meter is dangerously low.

Wolverine's basic attack.

Notice Wolverine's unique healing ability. You can put Wolverine in a safe place and let him regain health.

Use Wolverine's claws against stronger foes such as the X-Men's archvillains.

An aerial luring punch allows Wolverine to take out enemies.

Cyclops

Cyclops' bio.

Pressing Jump twice consecutively allows Cyclops onto higher platforms. Rapidly pressing Jump consecutively allows Cyclops into even higher places.

Cyclops' optic beam spin attack can destroy a multitude of enemies at one time. It can also deal double blows against archvillains.

Cyclops' standard attack.

Some enemies that require two hits to be destroyed can be easily defeated with Cyclops' flying kick.

Beams can kill! Cyclops' optic beams get rid of most enemies.

Every combat move is a maze. Punch and kick walls, doors and everything else to find hidden switches and levers to seemingly impossible obstacles.

Nightcrawler

Nightcrawler's bio.

When a regular somersault isn't enough, press the Jump button twice to achieve a Nightcrawler patented super-high somersault.

Nightcrawler's diving jump will not stop until he reaches a surface to stand on. Weave back and forth as you fall to destroy enemies and surprise distant, unsuspecting foes.

Nightcrawler's electric punch attack.

Help When You Need It

In addition to changing out heroes when you are running low on energy, you can call on other X-Men to lend you a Backup Assist. Your backup team consists of Rogue, Archangel, Storm, Iceman and (in a two-player game only) Jean Grey. Call up their powers by pressing the Pause Button. Select the character you wish to assist you and then press button A when you are back in the game.

Jean Grey will automatically bring back players who have fallen off the screen. You can also use her to bring together two players who have become separated by obstacles in the game.

Rogue then is the most powerful enemy on screen...and takes them out.

Iceman projects ice bridges, allowing the X-Men safe passage across impassable gaps.

Archangel is the best help to overcome archvillains. He makes three deadly passes, shooting razor-sharp metal blades with each pass.

Storm ensures that any foe on the screen gets caught up and destroyed in the debris of her violent tempest-force winds. Archvillains will lose a major portion of their strength.

A Killer Aerobic Workout

Here's a look at what the Danger Room has to offer...and how to master its deadly secrets!

Pick off giant beehives and pick up a Yellow X to increase your meter.

Find levers to open up impassable walls and barriers.

The fastest way to defeat Juggernaut is to call in a couple of the X-Men from the Backup Assist team.

You can also fly right over the elevators and webbed to the top of the cliffs just before the elevators. Walk to the edge of the sector to the last ledge and jump as the elevator's hook when it flies by. If you miss it, just climb back up and try again.

There is an extra Rogue above and between the fourth and fifth elevators.

The X-Men's weapons are more powerful and weather-wise used with alchemy.

OVERVIEW

They're Tiny, they're Toony, they're all the Little Loonies. The cast of the popular Tiny Toon Adventures cartoon series is about to invade your TV in this new release for the Genesis, Tiny Toon Adventures — Buster's Hidden Treasure. Anybody who can hum the Tiny Toon's theme song will delight in this big, one-player game by Konami. The game is loaded with tricks and traps designed to keep you hopping.

Hare's the Plan

You play as Buster Bunny in 33 stages through seven areas as diverse as the subterranean Caverns and Snow-covered Mountains. All the Tiny Toon cast joins in the fun, including the money-grubbing Montana Max, who is pulling another hare-brained scheme that means triple trouble for Buster.

Monty has stolen Buster's treasure map and has kidnapped Babs, Fifi and Shirley the Loon. He's also enlisted the aid of the diabolical Dr. Gene Splicer, who's transformed some of the furry friends into indestructible monsters. Buster is hopping mad. Seven boss levels pit the happy-go-lucky hare against the likes of Dr. Splicer, Dozy Devil, Plucky Duck, Calamity Coyote and Hamton.

Hip Hop, Buster-Style

Buster's special brand of hip hop includes a superjump that rockets him out of tight spots and up to those hard-to-reach places. Do this super maneuver by pressing the D-Button until Buster pushes against the wall. Hold down the jump button and Buster will spring up. Keep holding down the jump button until Buster's feet flatten against the wall, press jump again and he'll rocket out. Buster's Hidden Treasure is fast-paced fun on a scale so big that it has a password feature so you can keep your place in the game. As Buster would say: "It's time to party, Buster-style!"

In Stage 1, jump to the top of the fourth wall, then take the sky bricks across to the next wall. You'll find a Crystal, which will give you invincibility for a limited time.

The Bell at the top of the wall adds a heart to your lifeline. The only way you'll find it is to take the sky bricks.

Jump off the wall after you get the Bell and you'll earn a Special Helper bonus. Batten A calls Special Helpers to clear the screen of enemies.

Find Gogo Bode and Buster advances to the next stage.

Jumping on an enemy's head is one of Buster's defenses. It doesn't work if the enemy is wearing headgear, though.

In Stage 2, let Buster fall off the cliff into the water. Swim to the bricks, then jump left into the secret passageway.

Use the secret passageway to get to the top of the wall. You'll find a heart and a Special Helper bonus.

Perfect the superjump and add a heart to your lifeline.

OVERVIEW

Introducing the Humans by Gametek features our species like you've never seen them before. A cross between an action and a puzzle/strategy game, introducing the Humans is what Lemmings would be after a few million years of evolution. It's a 50-level game for those who like a good deal of brain power and some pretty tricky timing thrown in with their gaming. There is a password feature so you can keep your place in the game without having to replay any of the complicated, sometimes nerve-wracking levels.

You control a tribe of comical (maybe even lovable) cave-humans at the dawn of history. Each level gives you a specific goal challenging you to use tools and overcome obstacles. Success advances you a little farther on the evolutionary scale, hopefully ahead of the monkeys. You can gain tribe members as the game progresses. Losses occur when tribe members are eaten by dinosaurs, have accidents or get involved with the Witch Doctor. The measures of advancement are the tools you've discovered. The tools you must master are the spear, fire, the rope and the wheel. All are present in later levels of the game, though you can use only one at a time.

A Stab in the Dark

Getting the spear is a real no-brainer. It's simply a matter of bringing your tribe to one place and making a stack so the last Human can grab it. Once you have it, the spear becomes a multi-use tool. You can throw or brandish it as a weapon, or pole vault from ledge to ledge—even to the backs of flying dinosaurs.

One thrown spear will usually kill dinosaurs...provided you hit it!

Pole vaulting is the first skill you need to learn. Get close to the edge before making your leap.

Your jump timing has to be perfect to land on the back of a pterodactyl.

Move your tribe back before passing spears across openings, or you'll have one less member in your tribe!

Burning Down the House

Master the spear and you are ready to discover fire. While you won't be able to crank up the barbecue and roast bronto steaks, you can use the torch to hold off dinosaurs, burn down bushes and other obstacles—even your fellow humans (if you are not careful)

Select the burn icon to get something to the torch.

All primitive creatures are afraid of fire.

Don't play with fire or your tribe will get burnt!

You can pass the torch across chasms or drop it to lower levels. Think like a Human!

Hanging by a Thread

Never has the fate of Humans hung by so slender a thread! Discover the rope and you can drop a base to friends below, to bring them up to your level.

You can throw a rope across platforms so another Human can use it.

A rope will reach higher than a stack. You can use it to go up and down.

Out for a Spin

The wheel adds mobility to your game play. While it can't go down ladders or jump cliffs, it can get you from here to there a lot faster.

The wheel is worth its weight in people. You can use it as a counterweight to hold open hatches, freeing up a Human for another use.

Get enough speed and you can jump while riding the wheel.

THE WITCH DOCTOR AND HIS HUMAN FRIENDS ARE THE ONLY HUMANS IN THE GAME WHO CAN USE THE WHEEL.

The Witch Doctor

Unga bung! The Witch Doctor can transform Humans into necessary objects. He will also participate in stacks. Just don't make him turn nothing into something, or else!

The Witch Doctor can be used in stacks. He's also a riot at parties.

Place a Human near the Witch Doctor. His options allow you to turn him into whatever item you think you need.

MAP OF LEVEL 6

You discover the torch on level 6. Getting there is half the fun. You'll need to kill a dinosaur and pole vault to the back of a flying pterodactyl!

1. Grab the spear just above the hut.
2. Pole vault a human over water.
3. Pass spear back to the other humans. Repeat steps 2 and 3 until all humans are across. Make sure some of your humans get too close to the dinosaur.
4. Have the human kill the dinosaur by throwing the spear at it.
5. Climb all your humans to the top ledge where you'll find another spear.
6. Grab the spear and pole vault onto the back of the pterodactyl.
7. Pass the spear back to the other humans.
8. Walk off the pterodactyl onto the far left ledge when it flies over it. Repeat steps 5 through 8 until all your humans are across.
9. Stack your humans up to the ledge where the torch rests.
10. Drop the spear if you're still carrying it and pick up the torch to complete the level.

ROAD AVENGER™

OVERVIEW

Road warriors, strap in! Road Avenger is Renovation Products' answer to armchair jocks who are Mad Max wannabes. This CD action/reaction driving game puts you behind the wheel of a customized, high-performance muscle car. As the Road Avenger, you are a member of an elite police team, S.T.O.P. (Special Task Operations Police). Your mission is to rid the city of S.C.U.M. (Secret Criminal Underground Movement), a gang of road terrorists who sent your fiancée to an early grave. You pursue S.C.U.M. across 10 action-packed stages of high-speed car chases crammed with more heavy metal carnage than you'd find at a no-holds-barred demolition derby.

Road Avenger's vivid graphics and realistic sound effects take full advantage of the Sega CD. The graphics are straight out of the arcade laser disk games. When you hit the Turbo button, you can hear the instantaneous roar of the engine. Your chase takes you down city streets, crashing through buildings, across mountain passes and into the sewer systems as you dodge obstacles and bystanders and leap chasms. You control the turns, the turbo acceleration and the brake in response to cues. You have only a split second to react—or you're toast. The game lets you play in Normal or Hard mode. In Normal mode, a tone indicates when you should make a turn, hit Turbo or Brake. You also see arrow cues and a Turbo or Brake signal on the screen. In Hard mode, the arrow and signal cues are gone. It's up to you to steer the course undisturbed, except for audio tones. When you make a wrong turn or fail to brake in time, the game shows how you ended up—crash and burn, end over end, ready for the scrap heap—then drops you back in the driver's seat for another try. The action in Road Avenger never stops. If you think you are lost—if you're ready for a hard and dangerous ride—take Road Avenger for a spin.

Hit the Turbo button and hold it down when you're behind a S.C.U.M. bag. Otherwise...

...this S.C.U.M. bag may be coming right over your front bumper.

Time your turbo bursts just right and you'll know what aerodynamics means!

A colorful, computer-generated sight and lot of fun with a lot of the background in the game.

Slam on the brakes...unless you have a tendency for oversized metal.

These guys are a barrel at just Dodge the containers with quick turns. Watch out for oncoming traffic.

Rev this overhead four times — hard! — and he'll soon be breathing your exhaust.

Don't take out any innocent bystanders. Swerve sharply to the left to avoid the two kids.

Trying to outrun the boulder will send you dead in your tracks. Slam on the brakes as soon as you see it, then immediately hit Turbo to clear the ramp just ahead.

Four-wheelin' on the beach is a great way to have fun...but not today! Make a sharp right to leave the dig-guard lower in one piece.

These aren't the boys in your 'hood. Swerve sharply to the left and hit Turbo and this S.C.U.M. is neatly cleaned off your windshield.

Driving is trickier in the sewers. Be prepared to brake more often, followed by an immediate sharp left or right turn.

Don't stick around to become part of the fireworks...hit Turbo and rocket outta there.

S.C.U.M. will ram you from behind if you don't accelerate fast enough.

Score S.C.U.M. over leave. Hit Turbo to clear your path of this guy, but get ready to slam on the brakes and make a sharp right after he leaves you in the dust. There's a seal ahead, ready to crush your grill.

Full throttle when the Turbo indicator sounds and you can avoid the tail charges. Hit the brake button after you land or you'll kiss the brick wall.

Get it going into the lava....

...or lose it entirely.

Brake fast and the guy in front of you will get the hook. Brake too slowly and you're next in line for the hook.

Don't give it past these methheads...tempting as it seems. Use your brake and you'll make it back into the daylight.

Remember: Your main job is to stay out of the lava. You can't afford to lose a single lap to a single enemy car.

GENESIS

CYBORG JUSTICE

OVERVIEW

Last issue of Sega Visions, we gave you the first look at Cyborg Justice. Now get the rest of the story. Who are you? What are you doing in a Cyborg body with the power to hammer the bad guys? And how do you beat this game?

Your brain has been implanted in a Cyborg body... without your permission. You are mad. You are powerful. And you are out to kick some robot booty and take down the Cydrick Federation. This fantastic fighting cart is designed to give you total control. Cyborg Justice has five difficulty settings from Relaxed to Brutal. Moves include punches, kicks, aerial maneuvers and the ability to rip off your opponent's arms... among other things. You can build 216 different Cyborgs from combinations of powered weapons and body parts. See the last issue of Sega Visions for complete coverage of the Weapon Arms.

Cyborg Justice has two fighting modes. In a one- or two-player Arcade Mode, you take on every combination of robo-wormer the Cydrick Federation has to offer. Or you can go robot to robot in Duel Mode, you against a friend or the computer. In either mode the winning strategy is the same: Smash, crush and otherwise demolish your enemies while keeping as much of your power as possible. The best way to do this is to use the moves that allow you to steal your enemy's energy. The strongest fighter isn't always the one that wins. You may have a Cyborg body, but your brain is all human. Use it! Cyborg Justice is high-powered, full metal pucker fun.

If your timing is right, you can jump and let the missile from the right side of the screen take out your next enemy.

The Fire Hand can melt away your power meter. Close in and use multiple Low Shoulder Hitters, then pick the enemy up for a mighty throw.

When you have a magnetic hazard on-screen, walk close to it to draw the enemy cyborg in. Then you can dis-arm it easily.

When you get into trouble, backflip away with the Crouch Flip and live to fight another day!

A great way to earn extra lives is to pull off an opponent's arm, then pull off the trunk over your head, hit A and you'll steal the opponent's energy. All energy that is above a full life meter will overflow into another life. Do this often and you will max out 10 lives.

The Low Shoulder Ram may not be Cyborg Justice's prettiest hit... but it's one of the most effective. Use it often against your enemies and you'll take them out quickly.

In two-player Arcade Mode, make sure both of you are wearing Pneumatic Legs. You'll be able to avoid deaths in the crevice by jumping simultaneously and double jumping Outfou C.

Once you've got a pile of vanquished enemy hits, they need to explode before your screen will scroll right. Speed the process by giving them a kick or two.

If your opponent is loud enough to leave your weapon arms lying around...don't hesitate to pick up and replace them... before they explode.

Don't worry about losing a limb once in a while. You can always start one back from an opponent. Use the D-Button Away and Button A when you are on your way to rip off its limb, then Button A to replace the limb on yourself. Now's that for spare parts?

With practice and proper timing, the Jump Kick can be a terrific way to avoid hits when low on power. Even if you miss your opponent, you'll land some distance away and be able to plan your next move without taking any hits.

If you hold your enemy overhead too long, you start losing energy. Once you've got 'em in the air, use the Button A Smash. Not only will they lose energy, they'll also lose a limb. Continue your attack quickly and they won't be able to put the arm back on before it explodes.

Not only can you block punches and kicks while in the Cyborg's protect stance...you can play a little football and kick your enemy through the uprights.

If you want to quickly destroy your opponent in the Dual Mode, try the Tank Legs. Land four solid hits and he's history. If your opponent is also using Tank Legs, you can protect by using the Crouch Block.

This configuration is best for the one-player Arcade Mode. You'll use Normal Hands (for regular bashing), the big Booster Body (to take lots of punishment) and Pneumatic Legs (for big jumps).

Position your Cyborg in the left or right corner. Then use the Normal Hand to let off a multiple pounding by double tapping Button A and hitting the D-Button towards your enemy.

Learn how to do the Waist Latch attack alone in Dual Mode. This move is critical to complete the outset (if you miss, your cyborg lands on his metal butt and loses one-third of his energy). Once you've mastered the move, try it at least once in each battle. Every hit against an enemy while using this attack steals power from his bar and adds it to yours.

A great way to practice is to enter the one-player Dual Mode on the lowest level against a computer opponent. Ten wins and you'll be ready to take on the Arcade Mode.

Nope. This isn't Michael Jackson doing the Moonwalk. This is a Cyborg Scatthio Block Stance. This one is D-Button Away and Button C. It's the best basic defense maneuver. Get in the habit early.

D-Button Back and Button C and Outfou A will get you this terrific Foca trick. Mix it into your battles and keep your enemy on his back.

JUNGLE STRIKE

OVERVIEW

Electronic Arts' enormously successful Desert Strike is spawning a sequel that looks like it will more than live up to its weighty legacy: Jungle Strike. This combat-packed Genesis title promises to deliver a big 16 megs of military muscle. Advance looks at Jungle Strike are exciting. The game has first-rate graphics, digitized audio and tight, smooth controls that truly make you part of the combat action.

Jungle Strike's story should sound familiar to Desert Strike fans: The son of the Desert Strike Madman is seeking revenge for his father's death and has teamed up with a South American Drug Lord. Trying to foil their plot, to destroy Washington, D.C. with nuclear weapons will take you through more than 50 missions in nine heavy-duty campaigns. Your attack vehicles and weapons are state-of-the-art: a Comanche Attack Chopper, Attack Hovercraft, Stealth Fighter and Special Forces Motorcycle armed with Hellfire, Missiles and Guns.

Your globe-trotting, seek-and-destroy campaigns take you from Washington, D.C., to a night raid in the dense South American jungle, and to the icy chill of snow-capped mountains. Your missions include rescuing hostages, taking enemy POWs, blowing up nuclear subs and destroying weapons factories.

Jungle Strike looks like solid action/entertainment fun on a big scale

Even classic weapons carry out the drag-and-throw strategy and the strategically positioned gunboats. Can you bag two birds with one shot?

There's a lot of intense strategy in these brain-bending raids to catch both eyes with your visual muscles. Watch for several sneakshots left standing in the corners of tanks and buildings. Fly over those to take prisoners and rescue civilians.

How you play only really begins to show when you're in control of the side. Press Start to see the on-screen battle map (but will tell) your mission, help you plan attack routes, point out fuel and ammo stores, and monitor landing zones and reserves.

The 8-foot air transport—yes, Saenger land/water attack vehicle—is to survive this level.

The Desert weapon is heavily guarded by rocket-armed sentries. The shoulder-fired rockets are amazingly accurate and have a longer range than your weapons. Isolate each sentry's position, then move in fast, firing your missiles. Pull back and repeat the damage until the How is secure.

Then, too, the enemy's death can. A couple of direct hits and this strong duck becomes duck soup. Fly over the ammo crate left in its wake. A wheel will automatically lower to 88 if you.

That's not all, yet. To locate the American POWs and the kidnapped German nuclear scientists. But watch your load meter. Drop your companions in secured areas as soon as you can.

KINGPIN

OVERVIEW

Followers of the Webbed One beware! You'll get caught up in the web of excitement spinning around the upcoming release of Marvel Comics' Spider-Man vs. The Kingpin on the Sega CD. This exclusive first look proves that Spider-Man vs. The Kingpin will be well worth the wait.

Spider-Man vs. The Kingpin is going to be a big game, packed with gaudy levels and teeming with the intricacies you love to hate. New, complex levels are being added to the original eight from the Genesis version, while enhancements to the original levels will harness the Sega CD's capabilities. Expect to see lots more animation, action and challenges in these expanded levels. Spider-Man's stick moves—swinging from webs and crawling across ceilings, attached-style—will be even slicker so he is easier than ever to maneuver. Exploiting the multimedia strength of the Sega CD, Spider-Man vs. The Kingpin will feature fluid, crisp, cartoon-like animation that rivals with the best, and 30 hard-rockin' minutes of original music to take maximum advantage of the Sega CD.

A Sticky Situation

Spider-Man's nemesis, the Kingpin, has devised a tangled web of deceit to entrap Spidey. Masquerading as Wilson Fisk, Kingpin has tricked the citizens and police of New York City into believing that Spider-Man has planted a bomb set to wipe out the city in 24 hours. The city-wide chase is on as Spider-Man hunts for the bomb, while the police and a motley of bad guys hunt for him!

Two of the cool new levels being added to Spider-Man vs. The Kingpin will test the webslinger's skills and smarts. Spidey perched atop a speeding subway train, commandeered by Vulture and his henchmen, and the wall-crawler as the ultimate laboratory mouse, trapped in Mystero's giant maze.

Anybody who has ever wanted to don Spider-Man's suit, swing from a web line in that marauding Spidey style and crawl up a wall (and what fun of the Webbed One hasn't) will love the pure challenge of Spider-Man vs. The Kingpin. This game will be heavyweight action/adventure game playing at its best.

The trick to surviving the subway level is to dodge any obstacles overhead...while keeping an eye out for bad guys below.

Spidey's in for a real hot time in Mystero's giant maze.

EQUIPMENT

Get physical with Sega's most innovative peripheral ever — The Activator™ — a full body controller for Genesis that puts you in control like never before. With The Activator your every move determines the on-screen action. Imagine using your entire body to control gameplay as you jump, punch and air kick your way through action games like Secrets of Rage 2 or Evander Holyfield Boxing. You might want to start working on your endurance, because The Activator will have you sweating in no time. And if you're musically inclined, you'll love directing your way through your own composition.

Start by standing in the middle of an octagon of eight interlocking floor panels. Each floor panel has invisible high and low "smart beams" creating a force-field of 16 motion sensitive levels that instantaneously respond to your foot or hand motions. A quick karate kick has your favorite on-screen character making a similar move. Punch left or right for directional blows. The only limitation is your imagination, but you'll soon develop your own style of play. Add a second Activator to your Genesis and your buddies can join in for some "friendly" athletic competition.

The Activator connects easily into the controller port of your Genesis system and is compatible with Sega's existing software library of titles. Its eight floor panels separate for easy storage and assembly. This light-years-ahead controller comes packaged with a two-in-one game cartridge, including an original action-packed fighter game and a music game, which lets you play "air drums." The Activator will be available this Fall. Meanwhile, you may want to start a daily routine of jumping jacks to get in shape.

OVERVIEW

Sony Imagesoft has come out with a new Sega CD hit for those of you who — like Peter Pan — will never grow up. Hook is an action/adventure game that follows the storyline of the blockbuster film. All the fun and excitement of the movie is here...complete with the digital symphony stereo movie soundtrack, phenomenal graphics and cinematic sequences.

The object is to rescue your children from the piny clutches of Captain Hook. He's kidnapped them from your comfy home in Seaburba and taken them to the wild world of Neverland. Getting them back is an adventure through 11 giant rounds of the land where Peter once was Pan. Tink will give you back your youth. But take a few hits and you will turn back into old Peter Banning — complete with a cane and age — and lose a life.

The game features unlimited continues and a variety of power-ups that give you extra points, a longer life meter and recharges to your power. And the outstanding quality of the music will really give your gaming a hit. Hook is a game that captures the range of being young and wild. Adventure game fans young and old will enjoy trying to bring the wicked Captain by his hook!

Be the Pan

Your first stop in Neverland is the Nevertree, where you must prove yourself to be Pan by battling the Lost Boys and Rufio to regain the Golden Sword.

After that, you're off to the Neverland Forest to fight Hook's Henchmen. This will also give you a chance to perfect Peter Pan's spectacular flying leaps, dagger, sword and crouching attacks.

Wait for Rufio to charge you...then leap over him and attack. Do this three times and the Golden Sword will be yours.

The Neverland Forest boss seems tricky at the outset. Instead of leaping from branch to branch, chasing him and avoiding obstacles, stand out on the horizon left and attack only when he comes in range. Do this three times and he's history.

Into Neverland

The Neverland Rocky Mountains are next with a crew of pirates who blast you with flaming arrows, throw boulders at you and roll barrels down on you.

Go up and night four overhangs and you'll find Pan's Golden Sword.

After getting Fairy Dust from Tink, go back down the cliffs and fly right to find these goodies.

Out for a Swim

The next Pan-tastic level is the Neverland Waterfall and Lagoon. Here you'll swim aided by mermaids, jump from rocks to rock in front of the waterfall and fly over spilled floors. You'll need to particularly watch out for the Magic Tigers, whose breath will temporarily turn you to stone.

Mermaids can be a help and a hindrance. They won't let you drown, but they may push you up into various explosive devices. Better to avoid them.

In this region, stay near the bottom and go right to where Tink is giving Fairy Dust, then fly straight up and right over the spikes.

Fighting the final boss of the Neverland Waterfall and Lagoon area is easy if you: Get Fairy Dust, hit him quickly on the left, fly right using only half of your dust, strike again, then fly back left and tag him.

If Pan keeps his eyes open and his wits about him, he'll find lots of hidden areas like this one. As you first enter the underground, go right (killing enemies and jumping to avoid spikes). On the far right go under low wall and you'll find this 3-up.

Keep going right after seeing a 1-up between two spiked walls and you can walk through the rightmost wall to recover the Golden Sword.

You'll find it useful to learn how to avoid big obstacles. Hit your jump button, with ANALYT from obstacle on control pad, then immediately hit TOWARDS on the control pad. Poo will jump over the obstacles and move forward.

The final boss of the Ice Area is easily beaten if you jump to the center pillar and drop just three of his balloons. His own explosives will then take him out.

As you fly up to Tink and start collecting Flying Dots, remain in front of her. Fly up until the screen scrolls and has you on the far right. This way you can remain safe and see what's coming.

Watch out for Spies. Sleep will sink!

This area is especially difficult 'cause Poo is followed through the caves by a Boring Will 'n the Wisp. This fire-guy lights his way, but always gets too close and burns Poo, so you'll have to run and let it play catch-up, or leave it behind and navigate in the darkness.

OVERVIEW

Action/adventure devotees, get ready to growl...half man, half wolf, all hate—he's Wolfchild for the Sega CD from JVC. This lycanthropic (wolfman) warrior will fight his way through nine levels of side and horizontal scrolling action, pitting himself against crack troops and biomutations. This disc will keep confirmed run-and-gun gamers hopping with action galore and kicking stereo sounds. Playing Wolfchild will bring out the beast in you.

Dr. Kai Morrow's secret blueprint for the perfect war machine, Project Wolfchild, is needed for the world terrorist organization Chimeria to complete its plans to dominate the earth. Chimeria's certified-crazy leader, Doctor, has kidnapped the doctor in his quest for the blueprints. You as Kai's youngest son, Sam, decide to avenge your father's abduction and bring down Chimeria in the process by activating the untested Project Wolfchild. After reawakening, you'll use an amazing array of magical firepower: One, Two and Threeway Fireblasts, Arc Blasts, Flammies, Horners and Plasma Balls to fight your way through Battle Cruisers, Jungles, Ancient Temples and eventually the Chimerian Stronghold. It's a howl.

Examine any visible on-screen items for bones pick-ups.

There are blocks that contain letters throughout the various levels... these spell out the words EXTRA and BONUS. Extra gives you an extra life and Bonus adds 20,000 points to your score.

Before taking on the first level's boss, be sure to score the slip for additional weapons and power-ups. Then as Wolfchild, stand on the deep left side of the screen and blast the Birdman back to molecular level!

There are lots of weapons available throughout the levels for Wolfchild to use. Some have limited numbers of shots though, so use them carefully.

Often what appears to be solid may turn out to be hollow. Don't hesitate to walk into things; you may find a path out.

There are restart bonuses throughout the game. These are save spots...so if you die, you restart at that position.

Whenever you can avoid the conveyor belts, do so. These are liable to take you right into enemies.

Don't hang out on the first elevator you see...when there are two visible, make the jump to the second, because the first always seems to fall.

Whenever you pick up a shield bonus (Invincibility) move quickly, because enemies abound near the shields and you have limited time.

Lots of invisible areas contain power-ups. Always check the walls and hit any blocks in your way to see if they contain anything.

Try to take as few hits as possible here and remain Wolfchild (powered up). You want to find these Octo-heads at a distance.

Smart Bombs can be found throughout the game and you can carry a max of 10. They destroy all enemies currently on screen.

Time Gal

OVERVIEW

Join Time Gal in a fast-paced blast through the ages. Time Gal is part of Renovation Products' Action-Reaction game series (see Road Avenger, also in this issue). Travel from the deep past into the distant future through 16 levels of colorful, cinematic graphics, dynamic sound and game play that will test your reflexes to the split second. Wildly vivid triumphs and deaths await. Lock your brain and fingers into overdrive. Time Gal will require all your timing and talent.

Remember, you get passwords only if you play in Normal or Hard Modes.

Try the early areas of the game in Easy first so you can get the command sequences down. Then switch to Normal or Hard and test your skills.

When you Continue, the screen sometimes flips into reverse angle. Be ready for the change and react accordingly. It's like playing backwards.

The 'it get better if you concentrate on the reaction jewels and avoid getting hooked on the screen action. You can watch the action in Visual Mode after you get the Password.

When lighting the globe, the first two moves are Button A, Button A, Up, Up, Up. Shiver his timbers!

When Time Gal says "Time Stop," the screen will freeze for five seconds. You will be required to make a choice as to what to do next. You have three choices. Choose carefully!

When Time Gal is engaged in sword battles, the four jewels flash simultaneously on cues to hit a button instead of a D-Button direction. But do keep an eye out for stray direction commands.

Don't forget to duck!

Yeah! You did it. Gal goes what? There's a whole new ending if you beat Time Gal on Hard Mode.

A time machine called the Pathfinder has been stolen by an evil crew named Luda. He intends to change history and end the world as we know it. Time Gal has the Pathfinder II. Her mission is to stop Luda before it's too late.

To maximize the challenge, the first few stages of Time Gal appear at random. You might start in one era the first time you play and another totally different era the next. This randomness keeps you from memorizing the game patterns too closely. You have to stay alert and be ready to react. To add even more challenge, there is a random reverse angle that looks in when you Continue. You may find yourself having to react in the opposite direction! Like Road Avenger, Time Gal will have you furiously reacting to a series of on-screen visual and audio cues. Move in the proper directions and use weapons correctly with the proper timing...and you'll advance to the next era. Miss your cue...and the in a amazing number of different cinematic sequences. Time Gal is intense.

The Hard Mode will give only subtle cues. Learn the stages on Easy or Normal first...unless you are psychic.

The mega-hit action/RPG Rise of the Dragon makes its way from the PC to the Sega CD. This fantastic technopunk thriller drops you in mid-21st century L.A. as Blade Hunter and lets you untangle webs of chilling mystery while trying to survive in the streets. You'll have arcade action, puzzles to solve and lots of possible outcomes. This game is candy for your mind.

Rise to the Occasion

William "Blade" Hunter, a burned-out cop turned private eye, has a number of problems. His old boss — now the Mayor — has hired him to investigate his daughter's death. The daughter died in mad-venturism caused by a new terror in the streets, the dingy MIZ. A more immediate menace also threatens the streets: Bahamat, an evil Chinese warlord, appears to have come back from the dead after 3,000 years. Bahamat has designs on the city — and the world.

Rise of the Dragon includes all the original game, and more. The innovative original soundtrack has been updated for even better digital-stereo sound. Amazing amounts of digitized voice (in lots of terrific accents) have been added to give Rise of the Dragon's already movie-like feel a spectacular boost. Even better, there are no passwords. The Sega CD's save feature keeps your place in the game.

Rise of the Dragon

Rise of the Dragon's most important feature is the game's multiple outcome branches. The game's outcome can go lots of different ways depending on a number of variables. These include who you talk to, what time of day you spoke to them, what you had in your inventory at the time, who you had spoken to before and how you talk to each character. Rise of the Dragon is a tale that you will love to play more than once, with different outcomes each time so you can see all the different endings.

Search everywhere. Take everything. Anything could be helpful and, if nothing else, you may get a big laugh.

If your girlfriend, Karen, does nothing but scream at you, give up. You need her help. Start over. Be nice. Make the second date... you big lug.

As you move through the game and cut more information, more subway stops appear.

Get in the habit of saving your game before entering new places. If things don't work out — you get beat up, die or just pick the wrong attitude in your conversation and no one will help you — you can restart from just outside.

You'll find some helpful stuff in Chan Li's apartment. Pay close attention to the Moonville Scarer. You'd hate to go to jail on a charge of breaking and entering.

In the Warehouse District, you'll find an ancient Chinese Mythology Scholar named Chang Li. If you give your cards right, he can be very helpful.

Keep looting yourself out of your apartment? Typical Moon. Search the hallway for an alternate method of entry rather than restarting.

Can't get inside B.R. Enterprises? Tried bombs, gas and gas? There are a number of ways in... try the roof or someone else's ID. Keep eating those lantern cookies.

Vid-Phone Tapping 101. Keep getting harassed at Jenny's Access Panel? Pay attention to the color code of your wire tester. Look at the wire tapper in your inventory.

How come there's nothing to do at the reservoir? The time is not yet ripe, my son. Watch your Moonville Scarer.

Save before you go to see the Mayor. Your old boss is a peach and might just kiss you in jail if you humiliate him wrong.

Ask Karen about lots of inventory items you pick up along the way. Where was it she worked? Accidents?

Exercise care with the items you collect. You might be especially careful with the Fisto Candy Bars and the Bombs.

You completed the game but Karen died? Try the Joeller's Closet for something helpful next time.

Talk to everyone you can. But first carefully read your response options.

Don't forget to dash in the last arcade sequence against Robotnik. A bomb might be useful here.

It may seem obvious, but dress Blade before you leave his apartment. Otherwise you will get arrested.

There is a way to get this guy's help... if you're careful.

In the arcade scene at the Warehouse, use your handy Walk & Sneak Pistol on Sneak as he comes across the pit.

You can do this with your Pistol but a rifle might be more help. Old Cheng Li gives you anything that had the word Kevlar in it?

OVERVIEW

You met him on the Genesis. His adventures continued on the Game Gear. Now Chuck Rock, the muscle-bellied, slung-jawed, boulder-head from the past, has come to the Sega CD. Chuck Rock CD by Sony Imagesoft is a hilarious action game featuring rock-sharp graphics, true to cave-life sound and music that is definitely rock and...and...you know what we mean! The action is simple, challenging and straightforward. No Einstein-quality brainwork needed here...just nimble fingers and a sense of humor.

Chuck Rock is a beetle-browed Neanderthal with a serious problem. His wife, the lovely Ophelia, has been kidnapped by the Stone Age villain Gary Cutter. Now Chuck is left with no clothes and no root beer. The animated sequences at the beginning of the game tell the story.

To get his blushing bride back home, Chuck must belly-butt and throw boulders through 26 stages of side-scrolling, Stone Age terrain. Chuck's main moves are the belly-butt and an in-air jumping lark. He can also toss large and small boulders, as well as place them on the top of his flat head for protection—sort of a cave-man helmet.

Along with options that allow you to configure the control pad buttons, the game has a password save so you can keep track of your progress in five-level increments.

Rocks make good headgear when the raincoats start to rain. They will also stop flying enemies cold.

If you take the high road here, Chuck will make it to the next level.

Not all the creatures of the land 'n' the dinosaurs are your enemies. Some will help your good buddy Chuck.

You can protect against Pterodactyls and other menaces by holding a boulder over Chuck's big noggin.

Grab a rock and jump left to bottom ledge. You are safe here. Throw your rock to the top ledge, jump up, grab the rock and toss it on or' his, green and ugly. Repeat seven times and this historical Dino will be history again.

You can't hurt this big, bad Boogie Monster. Don't even try. Just run past when he's down.

Use these frogs as jumping stones. But look before you leap. They can be hard to see.

Chuck a rock, then jump up to a ledge. Hit the boss a few times and he will be history.

Toss a rock at this snake or give him a belly-butt and he'll be so uncomfortable to serve as a platform.

CHUCK ROCK

Sometimes Chuck will freeze up in his lava-filled level. It's clear: not the cold. Keep trying and you'll make Chuck move.

GENESIS

FATAL FURY

OVERVIEW

Ready for some dynamite, fist-fighting action? Take on Fatal Fury by Takara. This hot hit is full figure, arcade-style martial arts combat...Genesis style! You can fight against the computer or against a friend in a series of two-out-of-three battles to decide who will become the "King of Fighters."

Fatal Fury has two modes: Champion Battle and Street Fight. Champion Battle is a brawl across South Town to the headquarters of the evil Geese Howard. In Street Fight you can play as any of the genre's three heroes—or as one of the other fighters. In the Street Fight mode you can even pit the same character against each of the others for the ultimate test of your fighter's skills. In each mode you can play against the computer, against a friend or have the computer battle it out with itself so you can watch and learn.

Terry Bogard

His father was killed 10 years ago by Geese Howard. Terry is back in South Town, with awesome martial arts skills—to defeat his father's murderer. His favorite fighting techniques are the Burning Knuckle and Slam Attack.

Hot Moves

Terry Bogard's Power Wave is the perfect weapon against ground-attacking opponents.

The Slam Attack will knock more than just the wind out of your opponents.

Terry's Burning Knuckle is the best counter-attack for aerial assaults.

Use Terry's Burning Knuckle Punch for major damage from a distance.

Andy Bogard

Andy is Terry's younger brother. He shares his brother's desire for revenge and also wants to prove to the world that he is as good a fighter as his big bro. His favorite fighting techniques are the Flying Punch and the Dragon Bullet.

Hot Moves

Andy Bogard's Flying Punch nails opponents you just can't come close to.

Andy's Body Saw is a counter to aerial attacks.

His opponent is fast enough to counter Andy's Dragon Bullet. The best they can do is block and take the damage.

The Shotgun Kick packs a long-distance wallop.

Joe Higashi

Joe Higashi is a Japanese kick boxing champion who is making his professional reputation by joining the King of Fighters Tournament. He is a friend of the Bogards and respects their keen fighting abilities. Joe's favorite fighting techniques are the Spish Kick and Hurricane Uppercut.

Hot Moves

Joe Higashi's Mechame-Gan Punch stands up your opponents.

Joe's Hurricane Punch will offset any enemy ground and aerial projectiles.

Use Joe Higashi's Spish Kick for long-range impact.

Unleash the Tiger Kick early in the fight to catch your opponent off-guard.

The King of Fighters Tournament

The road to beating Geese Howard is filled with the haddad braveries South Town has to offer. This is what you are up against:

Terry Bogard's Flying Wheel Kick hurls big for a little guy, but he bounces high enough to get under it if you're close enough.

You can see Terry Bogard's Palm Slop coming a mile away; either block and take a little damage or just jump over him.

Terry Bogard goes into a metamorphic state and often does helicopter punches, sometimes splicing flying punches. Jump over the Penballs and counterattack with combos or multiple punches while he is still spinning.

Stay close to Ralflee with low punches and kicks to prevent him from launching his powerful Rocket Attack.

Counter Michael Max's Hurricane Punches with ground attacks.

There's really no way to get around Ralf and Clark's Killer Fog. It takes him a while to gasp in air before he hovers out the fog; attack him while he's belching.

Richard Meyer's Spider Kick is a basic vertical spin move. When he is played by the computer, however, he can hover and even spin upside down. Use projectile attacks like the Flying Punch.

Richard Meyer's Rolling Attack is best used for long-range attacks or to counter aerial attacks. The best defense against it is just to be out of the way or duck under it.

Duck Rog's Cannonball Attack goes pretty high; get under him and counterattack when he lands.

The best way to defend against Duck Rog's Head Spin Attack is to either jump over him or to counter with a projectile weapon.

Unlike other power moves, Geese Howard's Wizard Wave goes the length of the screen. Jump over it and counter with a flying kick or punch.

GENESIS

OUT OF THIS WORLD

OVERVIEW

Get ready to blast Out of This World on your Genesis! Out of This World by Virgin Games is an action/adventure game that will challenge your ability to survive against all odds. This sci-fi title features cinema-style animation and graphics that has made Flashback such a popular game. Out of This World offers a heavy-weight mix of strategy and adventure for serious gamers.

You play as Lester Knight Claydon, a boy genius who has been transported to an alien land. The object is to find your way back to your own world. There is only one small problem. A whole city full of aliens is hunting you. You must also master the maze of caverns, tunnels and corridors of the underground city where Lester is trapped. Befriend a certain alien with passcodes into locked areas and you might just make it. You could also stumble upon the ultimate alien weapon—a combination of force-field generator and laser blaster that blows away everything and everybody. The game's ending plays much like the twisting caverns that Lester navigates—a surprise at every turn.

Out of This World includes a password feature so you can keep your place in the game. This is one you won't want to unload until Lester is safely home.

The force field and laser blast use up a lot of energy. Use them only when necessary since your energy is limited.

Dive in! Head left, then to the top of the second shaft for some much-needed air.

Keep your alien friend alive...you need him in later stages.

Raise your force field but keep shooting. Keep your friend alive and you'll live, too. He has the password to open the door.

Don't be a hero when facing the silver tooth. Run to the left, jump off the ledge and catch the vine. When you swing back, take off running again to the right.

Let this guard blow open a hole at the bottom of the stairs before you dispense with him. The hole will lead to more underground power circuits.

Crouch and put up a force field, then move around to trip the door. Move away from the door after the guard rails the grenade. The door will close...and the grenade will roll back to the guard. The timing for this move is tricky.

Switch down the shaft to find the power circuit, then blow it away.

Recharge your gun, then blow away the three walls. Look for recharge stations at other levels.

Your only escape route is the small ledge beneath the other exit. Jump to it, then blast an opening.

Go to the bottom floor to disarm the current, then return to this level and blast an opening for yourself and your friend.

Blow away the reservoir's restraining wall. Then run! Blowing the reservoir will give you access to other parts of the city...some of them by swimming.

You're got to help your friend escape from the crawlspace. Run left, cross the waterfall, go downstairs, then run right across the waterfall again. Shoot the light. The chain that blocks the crawlspace will be released.

Let your alien friend go ahead of you. If he comes running back, there's an alien guard waiting for you just ahead.

Escape in the alien ship. Find the eject button before the aliens find you!

Alien Arsenal-In-One

Shield yourself with the force field. Hold down button A until a small glow appears at the gun barrel. Release the button and the gun emits a force field that protects you temporarily. Put your gun through the field to shoot aliens.

The laser blast is an energy drain on your weapon, but necessary to blow away obstructions. To set your gun, hold down button A until the small glow appears. Keep holding the button down until a larger glow appears. Release A to fire.

THE FLINTSTONES

OVERVIEW

"Yabba dabba doo!" The Flintstones have just fast-forwarded from the Stone Age to your Genesis! The Flintstones by Taito is based on the longrunning cartoon series starring your favorite Bedrock characters, Fred and Wilma Flintstone, Barney and Betty Rubble, Pebbles and Bamm Bamm. This one-player action title pits Fred against a variety of Stone Age challenges. The game features 24 levels that take you from the bottom of the sea to the lofty tops of mountains. Fred has to battle and outwit everything from giant leaping lizards to sea monsters in seven adventures that include retrieving Wilma's necklace and finding Pebbles.

Fred's weapon is a cool cave-type club. He can also duck his head into his overalls' suit, a handy defense when he's in tight spots. Pop all the balloons you can. They hide power-ups that make you stronger, apples that restore your lifeline, hearts that add to your lifeline, Stars that give you additional continues and Lucky Stars that give you bonus points. Other power-ups make you invincible for a short time.

The Flintstones is non-stop, dino-bashin' fun from the first "Yabba dabba doo!" Swing your mighty club and watch 'em scatter!

If you're into action games that take some strategy to solve, The Flintstones is sure to keep you going for awhile.

Club the snakes to form your own stairway.

Buffy pleuroctactyls can give you a lift out of tight spots. It's okay to break eggs when you need them.

Don't waste time in the lava pit. Run right as fast as you can.

Lead the dice to the far right wall. Let it make you an opening.

Play baseball with claws to beat the sea monster. Try breaking the far left claws to cause choke needles.

Shoot or throw this leaping lizard as it drifts into and out of the ground. Its weak spot is its head.

Discover shells and credits planets will give Fred some level and cost you hearts. Find Wilma to become temporarily invincible.

Turn on lights by climbing the jellyfish. But attach yourself too long and you could get a shock.

Fred must beat the dragon and jump over its head before it reaches the left side of the screen.

Dash or jump on the seesaws to launch boulders at the giant dodo bird. Beware of its leashes.

POWER

OVERVIEW

Real-time simulation fans prepare...Power Monger from Electronic Arts for the Sega Genesis is a control freak's Valhalla. Designed by the same crew that did Populous, this title will take you beyond simple resource management. You, armed only with your divine right to rule and a handful of loyal followers, will take on 195 territories and convince or coerce them to submit. Your followers will do battle against petty warlords in an attempt to unite all lands under their rightful king...you.

Under simple war sims, Power Monger gives you the opportunity to win a Settlement's hearts, minds and future efforts through word and deed, as well as battle. You'll mine resources, create new inventions (gee, I'm outmanned. Wouldn't a cannon be nice?), send out spies, form alliances, set up trade and generally act like a king. Power Monger's menu is easy to use and offers a terrific number of choices, including Help Windows if you get lost or don't understand a command. For the truly brave or crazy there's even a choice setting to play Random Lands. This land may be easy, tough or insanely difficult at random. So what'll it be? Are you going to lead your followers to glory or foolish destruction? It's all up to you, Oh Great Power Monger.

The key to victory is choosing the correct posture. Avoid losing troops and supplies whenever possible by granting alliances. But, hey—crush them when they deserve it!

Zones it all the way on the Close-Up Map and you can speed up some play enormously. You can't see much detail but play will be faster.

If your Settlement has a workshop and enough raw materials and food, you can set them to inventing something. You get no choice in what they invent but can influence them by where you place the workshop. Put it near forest and water and you'll get boats. Put it as high ground away from forest and you'll get swords or axons.

Use Query to learn about each Settlement. For instance, a Settlement might be ready to overthrow their warlord. Take a positive posture with them and your army will be able to win without warfare.

Spying is a dangerous profession; the penalty for getting caught is immediate execution. But spies can find out so much that it's worth risking their hides. The info you'll get includes the locations of all breeders and armies in a particular locale.

Sheep are a great way to increase your food supply. Each time you have your men attack grazing sheep, 100 food items will be added to your stores.

OVERVIEW

Batman fans, get ready for Sunsoft's Batman: Revenge of the Joker. This new fast-paced action hit has cartoon-style graphics and animation that make you feel as if you've jumped inside a comic book. As the Caped Crusader, you play through 19 stages of nonstop smash 'em, blast 'em fun. The game is perfect for hard-core action fans.

Your job is to stop Joker from building missiles out of toxic heavy metals. On the way to the Joker's secret hideout, the Ha-Ha-Ciende, you must blast your way through seven big levels ranging from the Watchtowers to the Snow Mountains and beyond. Your main weapon is the Wrist Projector. Wrist Projector ammo can be found behind almost every box and bad guy. Game options include a passcode to keep your spot in the game and unlimited continues, which you'll need if you want to beat the Joker at his own game.

The second part of Joker's Warehouse is a straight-shooter-type level.

Stay low and use your slide to make it through.

Better then stay on the left side of the screen in this scrolling level... learn the jumps and stay to the right. You'll take fewer hits.

Use Batman's terrific slide attack against the Joker's early level enemies. This leaves you crunched and less apt to take early hits.

Each of the bosses has a weakness. All you need to do is find it. The first boss (Ace Ranger) is fairly easy to beat if you crouch close to him and fire a lot. As he jumps over you, turn and continue firing without getting up. He's lost.

Hide these moving panels to get through the first part of Joker's Warehouse.

Keep your eyes peeled for gas hidden under the snow. That first step can be a killer.

Be careful which ammo you pick up, 'cause these ammo blocks are hard to see. You need the Bul Crossbow.

Watch out for falling bits of comet. They will erode your life meter before the action gets intense.

Take this level slowly and carefully for the best success. Rushing will get you in trouble.

You'll find lots of power-ups throughout the game in these pink crates. Shoot 'em again if you want to change the ammunition.

Indestructible tools only for a few seconds. Use the flow to get as far into the stage as you can.

BATMAN REVENGE OF THE JOKER

You play as Wayne Campbell. You and Garth have been sucked into an arcade video game. Garth has been inhaled by Zantez, the Gelatinous Blob (it could happen...). Armed only with a guitar, you must take on four levels and 11 stages of serious danger to save your bro. This adventure takes you through Krumer's Music Store, Sam Malachuk's Donut Shop, the Gasworks and worst of all, Suburbia. It's a walk in the park...Not!

You'll find lots of power-ups on the way (like the Schwung!), which blows up all the enemies on-screen, the Worthiness point, which lets you live through one more hit, and tons of guitar upgrades so Wayne (thank you) can actually believe he is the reincarnation of Jimi Hendrix. Rescue your hapless sidekick from a fine most unbecoming and do it without blowing chunks. Garth double-dates you. Just don't taste the Mystery Meat. Repeat after me: I am worthy. I am worthy. I am the guitar racks, 'cause these babies will whack you when they fall.

Stand on this amp and wall away. The guitar monster will be only a bad me many if you hold down the C button constantly. Wayne takes zero hits while jamming on his guitar.

Each time you take a hit lighting this Sugar Puck Monster, switch screen sides... he's kinda stupid and won't realize that you've moved for a while. Excellent!

If you hold down both the D button and the C button when lighting something in the air, Wayne will jump and shoot at the same time.

In the Suburbia levels watch for the vicious man-eating mailboxes. Avoid them like the plague.

According to Wayne, "these guys suck holes," but you'll also find that they require two hits. Give 'em a couple of guitar blasts and they're gone.

Search each level carefully before leaving. Some of the bonus items will really help in the next level. Schwung!

Geez, does this stomp get enough wadage pumping through their speakers? Not. Jump the arcing speakers or you'll find yourself quickly "Not Worthy."

Guitar stores are dangerous places. Move carefully when you approach

OVERVIEW

Garth and Wayne are about to totally invade your Genesis in Wayne's World from T-HQ. Are you capable of taking on this way excellent adventure without hurling? Could life be any sweeter? You'll face bizarre creatures like the Psycho Hose Beasts, Head Bangers, Putrid Grease, Accordions and other crazed mutants (No way...Way!), in this kicking action/adventure game.

Include the Gasworks in your hot list of recent Elvis sightings. You can lose this boss by jumping to the upper left platform and jamming on Wayne's guitar.

This Street Hockey Player takes 15 — count 'em — 15 hits. Slowly move back from him and wait.

Avoid the jelly bubbles dropped by the Gelatinous Blob by running to the opposite side of the screen and waiting like crazy on the collar.

PGA GOLF TOUR II

OVERVIEW

Golfers, get set to tee off! PGA Tour Golf II from Electronic Arts is a golfer's dream come true, with six — count them — six Tournament Player's Club (TPC) courses designed directly from the original course blueprints — plus a fantasy course, a big-money shootout Skins Game and 60 Tour Pros. And this is just for starters. You also get loads of stats, five actual PGA Tour Tournaments, and a Draw and Fade Meter for improved Ball Physics. For!

Here is your chance to go at it with the Pros. Whether you're a veteran golfer and a scratch handicapper or just a beginner, you'll find everything you need in PGA Tour Golf II. As you get started, there are practice rounds, a putting green area where you can choose from all 126 available greens, and a driving range. You can even take a Mulligan (retry the last shot). The Skins Challenge sets you against three other players, whether computer-controlled Pros or your golfing buddies. Battery Back-up lets you save tournaments, players, prize money and stats. From special chip shots, punches and fringe puts to 10 different ball lies, PGA Tour Golf II satisfies every golfer's urge to tee off — but without the green fees.

Use the 3-D putting grid to crush and read the breaks from a Tour Pro's perspective.

The new Hole Browser feature will let you preview each hole with hole- and fly-by views.

Practice your drives on this spectacularly real driving range.

If you go just the 100 percent mark on the Stroke Meter, it's called over-swing. Be careful here: You'll get max distance, but you'll also reaps any hook or slice.

In the Skins Challenge you can keep track of the dollars and stats. Remember you can always pick up your ball and head for the next hole.

Don't hesitate to take a look at the whole course at the Eagle View round.

Don't forget that when you make a terrific shot you can count on an instant reaction from your buddies waiting at the clubhouse to meet.

The overhead view is particularly helpful when there are hazards involved. It helps you decide how to take the shot and how to avoid water and trees.

Use the Punch Shot when your ball is buried or half-buried. You'll reduce the distance, but also reduce your chances of a Bub.

Listen to the Pro's Tip on the Fly-by Hole Preview. It'll help.

Use a chip shot when you're close to the green but not too close.

Mutant League Football

OVERVIEW

Mutant League Football, from Electronic Arts, is a wonderful twist on the grand old game of football. Whether played by you and a bud, or just you against the computer, this title has all the features of a "true football" cart...except that you play as mutants or robots on a wide array of sci-fi fields and have your choice of gore level!

You could always trip the crazy fields and play on turf. Even though this is closer to "real football," your opponent can always bribe the ref and gain extra garbage on any play.

When you're down on points, be sure to try an Electroacoustic Audible. It will break your day!

A highly useful defensive play is the QB Sash. It does as advertised.

There are lots of "wild" plays that have wonderfully crazy results. Use them to confuse and abuse your opponent. This one's called the Death Bone.

If you think your bud has pulled a Bribe the Ref play... you can always run a KID the Ref play and Gossip his hopes!

You can set your Death Index (gore level) from 1-rough to 5-annihilation. 5 may be messy, but more fatalities lead to more fumbles and turnovers!

The Death Bone makes you your own referee. It's great.

Don't listen to your coach! The guy's obviously a madman.

Sometimes the field is missing its spots. A good coach should never let his players get into the Void!

Like EA's Madden '93, there are instant replays, audibles, the same play mechanics and other popular features of the game. But unlike Madden '93, you can choose from a wide array of plays that literally destroy your opponents. And if you run out of reserves, you play with no substitutions!

The Mutant League is divided into two conferences: the Mutant Conference and the Toxic Conference. The conferences have eight teams each. On the Mutant, for instance, you'll find the Sney Whizzers and the Deadhead Razors and on the Toxic, you'll see the Killer Kormorants and the Psycho Skushers. You can choose from 19 different types of fields to play on, from the Butcher Dome (jaws, craters, mines and pits) to Tripout Stadium where the surface is rubber and there are mines and pits galore!

Quirky features include 14 different Nasty Audibles that you can use once during each game. Nasty Audibles are tricky plays that you'll never see on a real football field. Rumblefumble lets you intentionally fumble the ball. Then, the first player to touch the explosively rigged football is blown to Mutant Heaven. Immobility makes whoever has the ball immobile. Backset Pack gives your runner a personal rocket for long yardage and Blackout puts metal shields over your opponents' pass screens!

If you're an action fan, you'll go for Mutant League Football. It's inhumanly fun.

TOM and JERRY

THE MOVIE

OVERVIEW

The chase is on in Tom and Jerry: The Movie, as the world's most famous cat-and-mouse duo continue their cartoon antics on the Game Gear. This quick-paced game by Sega follows the mischief of the soon-to-be-released animated feature film of the same name. Tom and Jerry highlights intense chase/action and loads of "I'm gonna get that mouse" antics. These two characters will keep you jumping!

Tom and Jerry takes the fun-loving cartoon couple through hilarious twists and hilarious turns as Tom chases, catches and loses Jerry through five big levels of animated fun. You'll play as Tom, in hot pursuit of the lightning-fast, tricky Jerry. Your madcap chase starts in My Home, takes you to The Night Town, then On the Ship, a Deserted Island and finally the Labyrinth. Each level puts Tom through paces no self-respecting, mouse-catching cat should have to endure. Tom will have to climb obstacles, duck cherry-bombs and leap hazards to get that darned mouse. Between each level, you'll go to a bonus round. The four bonus rounds will refill your energy levels and hopefully each give you another life hint.

The cartoon characters Tom and Jerry have been around since most of our parents were children, have been in over 200 cartoons, shorts, are starring in their own feature film and now make their way to video-game history. Not bad for your average cartoon cat and mouse, but as we all know these guys are far from average. Tom and Jerry is madcap, wacky, light-hearted fun. It beats seeing a mouse trap anyway.

Tom will lose energy through each level as he takes hits from his pol Jerry. Pick up these Life Up Hearts to regain strength.

The Glazed-Mechanical Dog at the end of the first stage gets in a few hits before Tom can dispose of him. Walk on the far left of the screen and the dog will eventually fall in a hole. Tom will have to take three hits then, though. Jump the hole and catch Jerry.

Watch out for falling lamps in My Home. Timing is the key to avoiding these.

You'll be able to jump some of these spiky pits. Others are too wide, so find another way over them.

Your first and third bonus levels will be a game of Tag. Pick up all the bonus hearts first, then try to catch Jerry. If you get him you'll gain an extra 100 heart.

Before then trying to jump these bouncing cans, wait until they get close, then run under them.

Sometimes you'll be able to avoid playing the whole stage by catching your mouse early on. If you have trouble getting past a particular stage- boss, try to catch Jerry early in the round.

Jerry lays land mines in Tom's path. Jump these to avoid getting hurt.

Getting past the leaping fish is a matter of timing your jumps.

Jerry tries to make a clean sweep of the first stage. Jump these self-propelled hoppers.

Sometimes it just doesn't pay to go all the way through each level. Catch Jerry early and avoid this Crab.

In the second and fourth bonus levels, Tom plays Apples and Bombs with Jerry. Avoid the Bombs and catch the Apples. Eight points will get you another 100 heart.

All the way through the game you'll find that Tom has to trip plungers to get through some areas. Some plungers are better left un-tripped. Look carefully at the scene before activating them.

Watch out for these exploding meek-rocons.

Move fast enough and you might not have to deal with these moles.

Timing is the key to avoiding any falling items. If you do get hit, run quickly past while Tom is flashing. Tom has limited invincibility after getting hit.

At the end of the fourth stage avoid the balls and hit the plunger on the top right shelf. Then go catch your man... er, mouse.

These suits of armor toss their helmets at you. Duck.

These garpoyles are more than wall ornaments. They spit fire balls. Watch it: Get's hole to be engulfed in flames.

All you need to do to complete this game is figure out how to get past the final boss. Good luck. Get to it.

KRUSTY'S FUN HOUSE

OVERVIEW

Aye caramba, man! Bart's pal Krusty has finally made his way to the Game Gear. Krusty's Fun House from Flying Edge is one of the finest action/puzzle games ever made and looks great on the small screen. Go portable with Krusty...the guy who put the K in Konning.

Krustyland has been invaded by rats. Bart and Homer have consented to run the high-comedy rat traps. Ever see a rat take 20,000 volts, get mashed by a big boring glove hammer or get blown up like a balloon? All you have to do is help Krusty clear the way by guiding the rusty little rodents to their demise. Our green-haired hero is armed with custard pies and superballs. Blooming has way to rat-free fun are flying pigs, laser-firing aliens and slimy snakes. Krusty's Fun House is a place where your imagination definitely has to run wild if you want to win.

To whip the rodents at their own game, you must do at five multiple-room levels. A password lets you keep your place in the Fun House. Different types of bonus blocks, magic blocks, secret passages and tools abound. Some areas will tax your brain with logic puzzles, while others will just have you racing to beat the rats to a particular spot.

During the course of the game you'll enter five bonus rooms. Each of these bonus rooms must be beaten in the time allotted so that you can move on to the next level. In addition to being able to go further in the game, these bonus rooms give you a Krusty Doll bonus for another life. Krusty's Fun House lets you clown around, test your brain power and have a lot of fun, too. Enter the Fun House. What are you waiting for, man?

Those curved sections of pipe will help you to redirect your rat flow.

Sometimes you just need to use a tool like this blower to send the rats to their doom.

Krusty can move some of the blower blocks around to help the rats along to a certain cartoon death.

Krusty can use Superballs to blast open closed passages.

It makes sense to move the spring blocks around and search up high for hidden items to complete the levels.

Sometimes you'll need to move the rats through a pipe. Each level has the tools to get them there. These two blocks will let them climb into the above pipe.

These blocks must be crossed diagonally because they crumble under pressure. You may need whatever is hiding on the other side.

You'll need to become a catch-draw pipe slinger when you see these aliens. Otherwise they'll take old Krusty out.

Krusty can take only a certain number of hits before his pace-maker gives out, unless you find bones, food items and refill his health. One of the ways to kill Krusty, for sure, is to fall off an area more than two screens in height.

Sometimes it's just a matter of getting the rats into the right pipe. You may have to wander the level to map out where each pipe goes.

Beating this area is just a matter of setting a few blocks and one blower. Keep trying different combos and you'll get it.

Not all blocks can be picked up or opened. This beige block must be kicked to its proper place to let the rats up. But don't kick it until you've determined where you want it.

When you find one of these magic blocks, it will open a secret passage to a Bonus Room. You must beat the Bonus Room to proceed to the next level.

Be sure to come armed with plenty of lives... 'Cause these giant goody birds take three hits.

These glass jars come in very handy for rat transport.

Spring blocks help you jump higher. Some of these can be picked up when you are standing still on them.

You can take most of the rooms in a level in whatever order you wish, except when you see a lock on a door. These tell you that you haven't beaten all the other areas. You must do so before you can enter this room.

After completing each stage, take the time to search the whole area for magic blocks.

One of the ways to take out the various enemies who try to beat your catch-up is with custard pies. As you run low, you can find more in bonus blocks.

These damn little rodents just walk around. All you need to do is find a path for them to the trap. In this case, the block under Krusty does the trick.

OVERVIEW

Sega is taking on the night with the new Game Gear title Vampire, Master of Darkness. Journey through the darkest parts of late 19th century London, tracking down the Master of Darkness himself... Count Dracula. The hunt takes you through five areas and 15 stages of heart-stopping action and danger. Here's your chance to be a real vampire slayer.

Don't waste the great Emerald Rod's impact. Pick it up only after more enemies are on screen. Boom! The undead are now dead.

Be careful when you open up them Masks (these contain bonuses, weapons and special weapons). There might be a weapon of lesser power in them. Keep the Axe, it may be short but it has the most power.

VAMPIRE master of darkness

You guide the spike-pounding hands of Dr. Ferdinand Seward, a psychologist and doublet in the occult. His friend, the noted psychic Miss Julia Arkham, has been kidnapped by Dracula. You prove the streets and sewers of London town in search of Dracula's Castle, guided in part by a mystic board, which gives you hints. Your search begins along the Thames River, leads to The House of Wax Dolls, then to the Epitaph where you must cross the cemetery and uncover the crypt's many secret passages to find the entrance to the church. More hidden rooms and corridors await in the laboratory before you reach Dracula's Castle. Dugger, ladders, wooden stakes and axes hidden behind flower tracks and walls will aid your quest. Special weapons range from Pistols with genuine silver bullets to 19th century Detonating Mechanisms, also known as bombs. Make it to Dracula's Castle and you may have a prayer of rescuing Julia from the Count's sharp fangs. Hope you remembered the garlic!

Some of the rooms in the Lab secret to have an, may not. The key word is secret. Keep trying.

Try to get and keep the Pistol, then collect lots of silver bullets for your battle in the Clock Tower.

The most powerful Special Weapon is the Projectile. Get it and keep it.

Get the balls while they're hanging upside down or you'll take hits.

Be cautious crossing the Abyss... lots of loose floors here.

Search carefully and you can find the entrance to this Church.

Always hit any walls you see. You never know what might be hidden behind them.

A Dr. Social Vampire Doll will give you an extra life. Use it wisely!

Don't fight monsters you don't have to. You'll find it easier to get through the game if you avoid unnecessary battles.

DOUBLE DRAGON

OVERVIEW

Just when you thought you were out of continues...pick up this C and you'll gain another. Always smash no-screen boxes, mailboxes and so on. You'll find one of four power-ups.

Pick up this long gun and you'll be in a position of strength...sure as a shooter.

Teach the guys from the Black Dragon Gang the great game of baseball. You can start by shoving 'em your savings.

Billy can use items picked up along the way to help defend himself from attack. This pistol in Level 1 is worth its weight in gold.

Some enemies are better fought from the air. This vicious jump kick can be very effective.

Hope you have extra lives, 'cause this guy will take about three lives to beat. Change attacks frequently. Attack low, jump and punch in random order. Persistence is the key.

Feel like playing a serious fighting game? The megahit Double Dragon has made it to Game Gear. This one-player martial arts rescue mission from Virgin Games is an all-out battle through the heart of the city. You'll kick, punch and generally break heads through six hot levels to brawl with the leader of the Black Dragon Gang—The Black Samurai—in a down and dirty contest of strength and will.

Double Dragon is one of the most famous games in video history. The Game Gear version captures all the excitement of the Double Dragon series. You play as Billy Lee in a clenched-fisted quest to free your brother. You start the game with three lives and three continues, and earn an additional continue for every 7,500 points. The moves are basic and straightforward, with graphics that make the most of the Game Gear format. If you like games that require the subtle diplomacy of a clenched fist, Double Dragon Game Gear is right for you.

Much of the time your enemies will enter from the right...so hang left and wait so that you can greet them properly.

The enemies get harder from here on out. Try to take them on individually.

A few kick out take the enemies who don't jump every time.

Hit an enemy three times quickly and Billy will go into a round-punch combo that really cracks heads.

AS
GLADIATORS

OVERVIEW

Mick and Mack are back, have strapped on their Goo-Shooters and are ready to fight for the environment in Global Gladiators, from Virgin Games for the Game Gear. This innovative hit title has lost almost nothing in its trip to the small screen. As Mick or Mack, you'll blast your way through 12 levels, plus bonus rounds, of fast-paced run, leap and shoot action.

Your task is to clean up four separate worlds—Slime World, Mystical Forest, Toad-Town and Arctic World—by battling various bizarre critters. Each world has three levels. If you collect enough colored arches in each stage, you'll go to the bonus game—a dizzying, fast-moving session of recycling. Your weapon is the Goo-Shooter. Each time you tap the fire button, it launches curving blasts of slime-splattering Goo.

You'll collect indispensable items that will get you through this global adventure. Hearts to replenish lost energy, Clocks that will give you more time to complete the level, I-Ups to give you another chance (to a max of nine), Continue Arrows that will let you continue from that spot if you croak, and Continue Coins to give you an extra continue. So...four treacherous worlds, each with three crazed stages, a boss battle at the end of each world and high-speed bonus games if you're truly a wizard.

Don't hesitate to look up and down while firing your Goo-Shooter to take out enemies on levels above and below you.

Jump up often to find bonus items that are seemingly in unreachable areas. You'll find invisible platforms that will let you reach them.

Don't take too much time exploring each stage. Each level has a time limit.

In the Bonus Game you'll collect taling cans, bottles and newspapers and put them in the proper receptacle. If you get behind (and you will because it's fast), catch the taling boxes first, then try to catch up with the recycling that's already taken. Watch out for taling Arvils.

Collect all the arches you can find...each level has a different number required to get to the bonus game.

Stand as far away as possible when battling the Stone-o-matic Mark II and you'll avoid unnecessary hits.

These nice little fish jump high enough to smack you. A blast of goo will do lovely work.

If you are feeling drained, pick up a large heart to re-energize.

When in the Mystical Forest World, try to stay as high in the trees as possible and leap from branch to branch. This will get you through faster and more safely.

In some regards the skies hold more danger than the ground. Dodge air-borne enemies until you can find a spot to bring you to their level. Then blast away.

Jumping to elevators takes a light touch. A fall will invoke the stuffing out of your energy meter.

LAND OF ILLUSION

STARRING
MICKEY MOUSE

Jump to the right first to kick the Star. It will add a dot to your lifetime (up to five total) or give you another Try. There is a Star in each stage.

Grab the first whirlwind of leaves by crouching low, then running past it. But let the second whirlwind catch you and carry you to this area past the prickly hedge. Grab on!

Go into all the doors; you can't find hidden goodies. D-Button Up gets you in. Retrieve this barrel from the room at the top of the tree, but don't waste it on the spider. You'll need it to climb higher.

The blocks in the Blacksmith's Castle won't help you stop the fire that is hot on your heels. Toss 'em out of the way, then scout.

Journey with your old friend Mickey Mouse to the fantastic Land of Illusion. This well-crafted game from Sega will open your eyes and mind to what is possible on the Game Gear. The phenomenal graphics depict Mickey in cartoon-like style. Land of Illusion is jam-packed with 15 big stages, with mini-quests much like a scavenger hunt. To advance further in the game, Mickey must search for and find special objects, such as a Shrinking Potion, Magic Bean and Cloud Shoes.

Wait for two bats, then use the Bounce Attack to clear away this distraction. Hit Button 2 to make Mickey jump, then Button 2 again to deliver the Bounce Attack. Use this move to knock out bad guys, too.

Treasure here — and get caught! — and the penalty is pretty high. A quick, nimble-footed mouse will find the leaves are sturdy enough to use as stepping stones.

Press Button 1 to pick up items. Press Button 1 again to toss them. Treasure chests hold bonuses that restore your lifetime as well as give you points and additional continues. Toss blocks at your enemies. Move springs to jump to high ledges.

Don't leave this sea archer languishing in the deep. He has a magic key you need. You get two tries to make him cough it up.

Mickey, be nimble! Mickey, be quick! Mickey, jump over the candlestick! Oh, and watch out for flames underneath and baby dragons spewing fireballs.

The dragon won't hurt you when he touches you, but his breath is a killer. Toss the blocks from the top of the pile first. Three hits and he becomes your friend.

You have to return to the Lake stage a second time to find the passageway to the Castle Ruins. The Shrinking Potion hidden in the ruins will make you small enough to walk around in the Tiny Caves.

ARIEL

THE LITTLE MERMAID

OVERVIEW

Ariel, Disney's The Little Mermaid is making a big splash on the little screen. The Game Gear version of the hit animated movie has the theme music you love and all your favorite friends and enemies: Ariel, King Triton, Flounder, Sebastian, and Ursula the wicked Sea Witch and her gang of evil-doers from the deep. Ursula is making monstrous waves for Ariel and Triton. She has turned the happy Merpeople into little polyps and hidden them away. Finding and freeing the polyps rests on Ariel's shoulders (or you can play as Triton)...but it won't be smooth swimming! The game has four maze-like levels that challenge you at every twist and turn...and the waters are infested with man-eating sharks, electric eels and pirate skeletons.

Ariel uses her magical voice to send Ursula's sea fiends back to the deep. Triton shoots fireballs from his mighty trident. Ariel's Fish friends add awesome help. Sebastian clears enemies off the screen, Flounder moves boulders to clear passageways and the digger fish digs for buried treasure. Pressing Button 2 and left, right or down on the D-Button brings one of the Fish friends to her side.

Ariel, Disney's The Little Mermaid is an a-maze-ing and fun challenge for all gamers. Dive in! The waters fine!

Shoot at all the clams: Some of them cough up pearls that turn into bonus points. The pearls add to your treasure which you can spend at the store.

Ursula's evil eyes guard the polyps, so sleep with your magical voice as you approach them.

The digger fish has a nose for finding buried treasure. Button 2 and D-Button Left calls him to your side. You'll find buried treasure in the sea bottom at the far left, middle and far right areas of Level 1.

Heading for the hidden polyps is easier if you use the map. Press Start, then Button 2 to call it up as often as you need.

Press Start to see the inventory screen. You need to keep tabs on how many Fish friends, keys and stars you have left to use.

Stay to the right of the rocks in Level 1 to avoid the evil eels.

Your magical voice disarms this behemoth. His weak spot is his head: Get above him and blast away.

Press Button 2 and D-Button Right to have Flounder move boulders. In Level 2, you'll need him to clear the passageway of the top far right of the ship where a treasure chest and a polyp are hidden.

Press Button 2 and D-Button Down and Sebastian will save you this bag 'o bones dancer' in a distant boat.

Don't bother to go after treasure chests if you don't have a key to open them.

It's just little you against both of them. To heat 'em, move your tail fast and sing, sing, sing!

To feed the store in Level 1, swim to the bottom left, then head right until you see the S. You can buy extra lives, keys to open treasure chests and Fish friends. You need to stock up on digger fish to use in Level 1 and Flounder for Levels 2 and 4.

TaleSpin

Press Start to monitor your Cargo and time. The Trip Timer is a 24-hour clock that shows how much time you've used. Remember: You've got just seven days!

The Lucky Penny is worth more than its weight in copper. Grab it to win twisted invincibility from your enemies.

Try to stay in the center of the room and follow the bouncer's balls. Use this weapon for target practice when he gets too close.

The water looks tempting...but it's treacherous for beastly Junior high flyers. To avoid hits to your health meter.

When there's no elevator up...make your own! Some pillars can be knocked down to form steps.

Take a spin on the spring. Shoot the pinwheel to launch yourself.

Use your navigator's nose to lead you to the underground passageways on both sides of the waterfall. Then sniff out the power-ups that abound...including Cargo to help you win the contest. Knock the sea creature off the ledge on the far right wall to find the deer to the Customs Office.

Don Ramon's giant magnet polarizes your attempts to get your barrel-corned Cargo processed. Avoid Don and his magnet by jumping over him, then quickly turning and getting him. It takes only a few good hits to demagnetize this tax.

Sniffing out food is one of Baloo's favorite pastimes and it adds strength to his life meter. You'll find this power-up on the roof of the first house.

Kit's slothlike shoots farther than Baloo's positive ball, but Baloo packs a bigger wallop.

OVERVIEW

Baloo and Kit, the high-flyin' spin doctors of Disney's TaleSpin cartoon series, navigate a course straight for your Game Gear in this action/adventure game. The two flyboys are finalists with Shere Khan in a contest to win a lifetime work contract with the city. To win, the Higher for Hire bears have to find 10 cargo boxes hidden within each of eight different locations around the world...and they have to do it in under seven days. Add to that the wily Shere Khan and his cartoon cronies — armed and lying in wait — jumping snakes, rats, vultures and buzzards that you will have to exterminate, and you've got a first-class ride into fun.

You play as the belly-scratcher, paddle-ball whopper, Baloo or as the sprightly slingshot-slinger cub, Kit. Your worldwide run takes you from the dangerous jungle to the maze-like ruins of India, then back to good ol' home base U.S.A. Before you can complete a level, you have to find the entrance to the Customs Office so you can process the Cargo you found. But you'll have to play hardball with Don Ramon, Blaster, The Weasel and Brutus before you're off again. You're airborne in the trusty Sea Duck during part of your journey, but turbulence is the least of your worries.

TaleSpin is a light-hearted, high-flyin' romp that will delight all levels of gamers with its variety of action. So shake a leg, we're ready to fly!

Pick up Empty Boxes to use as steps. Press the B-Button Down to pick them up and B-Button Up to set them down.

OVERVIEW

The 'toads have made it! Battletoads by Tradewest on the Game Gear captures the nonstop action and toadworthy graphics of the Genesis version, in high portable style. Pimple and Princess Angelica are being held by the Dark Queen on Ragnarok's World. You play as Zitz. To save the princess and your toad buddy, you have to smash and bash your way through 12 levels of terrific vertical and horizontal scrolling action. Among the challenges you'll face are riding a Speed Cycle through an obstacle course level, taking a spin on a Jet Turbo through a flying obstacle course and cruising a Space Surf Board through a river stage.

Lead the stiff-crashers from one end of the screen to the other. Let it blow up with you, then jump-kick it when it gets close.

When there is nowhere left to go, take a leap of faith and hope you land on the mechanical snake.

Ride into grab bars until the wind dies down.

Timing is the key to landing the ball. A few punches or kicks will do the trick.

Push on the speed to make giant jumps. Some ramps start off the ground, so you must first jump before hitting the ramp.

Carry the ice block for protection when passing under the stalactites.

Keep your flyer near the left edge of the screen to get an extra spirit second to dodge obstacles.

Use the back wall as a safe place to pick up powerballs. Throw the powerballs back at the robot while dodging laser fire.

Swing between the flytraps to make two lefts with one blow.

The mines follow a pattern. Stay at this spot and you'll be safe.

Some platforms will hold you longer for only a few seconds. Quickly jump onto the next platform.

Surprise attack the birds by swinging low before waiting them up. You can usually pick off a couple or even all of them without a fight.

The Winners of Sega's Third Party Seal of Quality Awards

Although many Sega games are produced by Sega's own Product Development group (games like Sonic, Batman Returns, and Kid Chameleon), most titles are produced and published by outside publishers. Gamers are familiar with Electronic Arts, Virgin Games, Konami and U.S. Gold, to name just a few of the major publishers who develop games for Genesis and Game Gear systems.

Since the introduction of the Genesis four years ago, these outside publishers (or Third Party Licensees as they're referred to in all the legal documents) have been responsible for developing dozens of major hits. We thought it was time we recognized their achievements, and so we introduced the Annual Third Party Seal of Quality Awards.

For Genesis, we selected the best games in each of five categories (Action, Puzzle/Strategy, Sports, Adventure/RPG, Flying/Drawing), the games that have the best Sound and the best Graphics, and, finally, the best overall product, the Genesis Third Party Game of the Year. We also selected the best overall Game Gear title for the year. The winners were announced at the Winter Consumer Electronics Show in Las Vegas in January.

Here are the winners for 1992, the best products submitted by Sega's Third Party Licensees.

Sega's Seal Of Quality

Sega's Third Party group congregates for a photo opportunity.

Many people wonder what Sega's Seal of Quality really means: Is it just marketing hype, taking up valuable real estate on the package? Or does it have some basis in reality, reflecting the quality of the game in the box?

The fact is, there is only one way that a product can display Sega's Seal of Quality, and that's by going through Sega's rigorous evaluation process and achieving a high enough rating. Sega is responsible for making sure that every aspect of a third party product meets Sega's standards of quality. These standards apply not only to the game itself, but also to the packaging and the manual. Here's how it works:

Each third party title is assigned a Sega Account Executive, the person who keeps track of each aspect of the product and makes sure it follows all the guidelines. All submissions are made to the Account Executive, who continually checks the product's progress and reports back to the third party. At this stage, the Game Analysts at Sega play the game and comment on its graphic appeal, game play, sound effects and other characteristics that affect its overall quality.

Game Analysts take time off from their monthly schedule. Otherwise it's Play, Play, Play. What a life!

As soon as the game has been completed, it is submitted to Sega for final approval. At this point, the Game Analysts start playing the game for hours and sometimes days at a time, looking for "bugs" (A bug is any problem with the game that can cause unpredictable results, like unexpected movements, color changes, or, at worst, a system crash). To make sure that they catch all the bugs, the analysts follow a detailed test procedure. They also scrutinize the game for any offensive or objectionable material, such as graphic sex or references to drugs or alcohol.

When they are satisfied that the product is bug-free, a number of analysts (usually four or more) then evaluate it on 10 categories. These include Graphics, Sound, Music, Depth, Challenge, Play Control, and Play Value, among others. The scores on these 10 categories are then combined statistically to derive a single score on a 100-point scale. A high score allows the product to carry the Sega Seal of Quality. If the product scores too low to pass, the third party has the option of making suggested improvements and submitting the product for re-evaluation.

The Third Party Account Execs get a short lesson on reading outside boxes.

Professional parrotplay on the console pad can keep nightingales quiet. The Game Analysts show us theirs.

Sega's Seal of Quality is there to help consumers make informed choices: Gamers know that titles bearing the Seal are high-quality products that will not crash, burn or offend. If you should ever come across a game that does not carry Sega's Seal of Quality, we suggest you put it down slowly and head for the nearest exit. You never know what it might do.

Look for the Seal, and you know you're on the right track.

PUT YOUR HEART INTO ART!

Sega Youth Foundation needs a logo. What better place to ask for help than from our readers? We recognize talent when we see it — like your totally cool envelope artwork (See "Yo Sega"). So here's the deal. You design us a great logo for the Sega Youth Foundation, send it in, and if your logo is selected you win a total Sega Household System — Sega Genesis, Game Gear, Sega CD and software. You could end up helping an important cause and winning an awesome prize!

Here's what you need to do:

- 1) Get a feel for the Sega Youth Foundation (our artists here to get in touch with their feelings), by reading about the organization in Overboard in Sega (see Sega Nice Guys) this issue.
- 2) Create your logo by drawing or painting it in color or black and white on an 8 1/2" x 11" sheet of plain (unruled) paper. The logo must include the name of the charity — Sega Youth Foundation.
- 3) Make sure to read and follow the rules (it won't take that long).

The Sega Youth Education & Health Foundation funds innovative and effective education and health programs which address the future well-being of U.S. children. The foundation supports programs which enhance the educational process and strive to achieve new educational goals. Programs which take an active and progressive role in treating children's medical needs are also supported by the Foundation.

Genesis

Rolo to the Rescue

Rolo has escaped from the Evil Ringmaster and is trying to get back to Mama. Sound like a game for the toddler set? Well, yes and no. The storyline is definitely toddler, but the challenge will bring even the toughest gamers to their knees. In fact, our testers reported that this is one of the toughest games they ever played.

Other aspects of the game may also be inappropriate to the intended audience (presumably 5-12 year olds), like the depressing messages that can appear at the end of the game ("You didn't save all the animals, so your conscience bothers you forever").

This is the kind of game you buy for your lad brother but end up playing yourself.

Tecmo World Cup

If you're a soccer fan, you'll enjoy this World Cup Championship challenge with a 3rd perspective view. You start off in a round-robin heat with three other teams. Win that heat, and you're off to the finals where you meet the other championship teams in an elimination tournament. Keep winning, and you may score the World Cup, the greatest achievement in the international soccer arena.

The controls were easy to use but lacked variety. We would have liked to see some more kick options, for example. We also thought the graphics could have been a little brighter.

Amazing Tennis

Acc and rally your way to the top in this tennis simulation from Absolute. Choose from clay, grass or regular courts, and choose from a number of opponents of varied rank. Keep winning, and you may find yourself the top seed in the tennis world.

We liked the way you could control the ball, especially during serves — serving the ball hard might increase your chances of an ace, but watch your aim because it could also increase your chance of hitting the ball out. We also liked how you could put left or right english on the ball. Controlling your player was another story, however. We found the player to be a little sluggish running across the court.

Aerobiz

This unique strategy game has you running a fledgling airline, making all the decisions as you try to become profitable. You buy the planes, choose the routes and plan your budget to get your new business, er, off the ground. You can choose between two different time periods—1963-1993 (for a little historical perspective), or 1983-2015 (where you can exercise your imagination)

While this game gives a fairly realistic view of the airline business, we thought the graphics were a little on the cute side, especially in light of the technical nature of the game. Nevertheless, if you're looking for a strategy game that's unlike any other, this one is worth a second look.

Sorcerer's Kingdom

Join three colleagues (a cleric, a scout and a monk) in a quest to rescue the victims of a growing number of monsters that roam the land. Explore caves and dungeons, battle enemies and vanquish the demon which behind all these problems. That should keep you busy for a while.

We liked the graphics (although the characters were a little on the small side), and thought there was plenty of Depth and Challenge to keep BPGers on their toes. We also liked how you could use some strategy in the battle scenes.

Rather than sit back and watch the fight, you could do more to control the outcome (Hint: Enemies have a lower armor rating from behind.)

This one-on-one basketball tournament pits you against the best the NBA has to offer. Compete one-on-one or go for a three-point shootout as Jordan against Malone, Bird against Mullin, or any other combination you care to choose. And you can choose from three levels of difficulty, as well as practice and trophy modes.

While we thought the play control was pretty good (you can do a basic jump shot with an occasional slam dunk), we thought that outside shooting in tournament mode was a little too difficult. And while the graphics were generally above average, we found the digitized players' faces hard to distinguish. But if you like basketball games, you should have fun with this one.

Double Dragon

The third in the Double Dragon series is not quite as good as the other two, although Double Dragon fans may not be too concerned. Punch and kick your way past the usual barrage of enemies as you try to find all the Rosetta stones.

Our biggest problem with this game is that the enemies cut you no slack, even when you're down. This makes it difficult to get past some of the thugs in the game, and doesn't make for a whole lot of fun. On the plus side, we thought the graphics and play control were OK.

Go up against some of the buffiest chads (and damsels) in the land as you compete in six imaginative events. Run across an open field and hide behind

While we like the idea of an American Gladiators game, we thought this one could have been executed a little better. For one thing, the overhead views in some of the events were not always appropriate; a first-person view would have been more fun.

We liked the unique outfield views, but found that the different views interfered with the play control, making it difficult

Paperboy 2

Most arcade gamers are familiar with Paperboy, the newspaper delivery game where you treat your subscribers with respect while dustin' nonsubscribers by hurling papers through their windows. The arcade conversion was available on most systems, and became popular with gamers everywhere.

In Paperboy 2, you have to avoid a whole new set of obstacles, like baby carriages, rolling tires, swarms of bees and even a hand creeping out of the sewer. You can also aim at most of the objects on the screen, gaining extra points if you hit them. But that is sometimes easier said than done. The 3/4-view perspective is not always accurate, making the play control a little tough at times.

Risky Woods

Risky Woods has you going up against wave after wave of evil things coming at you from all directions. Along the way you have to chant mantras to get past the various barriers in the game. Actually, chanting these mantras is a lot like playing Simon, where you repeat a pattern that appears inside a geometrical figure.

But before you can start hawking at the bad guys you have to gather links for your armor. Until you get the requisite number of links, it's pretty tough going.

After that, you can practically breeze through the game. In fact, we found the game a little too tough before you gathered the links, and a little too easy after.

Overall, we found this to be another solid title from Electronic Arts.

Spider-Man goes after the Sinister Six, climbing, swinging and doing all that acrobatic stuff that has endeared him to his comic book fans. However, Spider-Man fans might be a little disappointed in the graphics, especially the scaling of the characters. Spider-Man and the other characters look like madgits next to the other objects in the game, looking like they had all been shrunk by some mad scientist.

Six levels of challenging game play should keep most gamers going for a while. On the other hand, some of the game's difficulty can be attributed to the play controls, which we found to be somewhat imprecise.

PLAY IT IF YOU DARE

Few have faced Dracula and survived. Now it's your turn! Based on Columbia Pictures' blockbuster thriller, Bram Stoker's Dracula for the Sega CD goes straight for the jugular. Digitized scenes from the movie, 3-D graphics and incredible CD sound plunge you deep into dungeons infested with spiders and packs of bloodthirsty rats. You'll battle your way through seven terrifying levels, from the treacherous mountains and forests of Transylvania all the way to Castle Dracula. And just like in the movie, Dracula will attack as a bat, a vicious wolf, even an old man. But whatever form Dracula takes...make no mistake, he must be stopped! Bram Stoker's Dracula. IT'S A WHOLE NEW GAME.

Coming soon for Genesis and Game Gear.
